Britons Keep Palace Watch

. . . QUEEN AWAITS THIRD CHILD

London (AP) — Scotland Yard put extra police detachments outside Buckingham Palace Wednesday night to control growing crowds waiting to cheer the birth of Queen Elizabeth's third child.

"It is not really dignified for people to try to climb the palace railings," explained a senior Yard officer.

He put a cordon along the fence to keep the crowds at least two yards back.

Other On Hand

Miss Wilson will assist gray-haired Helen Rowe, the Queen's maternity nurse, who moved into the palace last Sunday.

Court sources said the queen's doctors had no plans for visiting her Wednesday night.

London's newspapers were running out of angles after a week of "Any Minute Now." The Evening Standard started its front page story with this confession:

Philip Unworried

Prince Philip spent 80 minutes away from the palace at an architectural exhibition. With nails unbitten and a beaming smile he looked the perfect picture of a confident father-to-be.

A crowd of 1,000 called "Good luck" as Philip drove out of the palace grounds. Some have been there since Sunday despite a cold wind. Philip acknowledged them with a cheerful wave.

The new baby, when it comes, will be the Queen's first since Princess Anne was born 9 years ago. Anne tells friends she wants a little sister.

Prince Charles, 11-year-old heir to the throne, is at school south of London and will be told by telephone when the baby arrives.

Governors Ask More For Roads

Washington (AP) — A plan to provide enough money to keep the Interstate Highway program on schedule was presented to congressional committees Wednesday by a committee representing state governors.

Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut, chairman of the 5-member governors' committee, said there was "no indication this plan is acceptable" but that the group found a sympathetic attitude toward the problem.

Specifically, the governors want 700 million dollars restored to the program for the fiscal year starting July 1, 1960, and 200 million restored starting July 1, 1961—a total of 900 million dollars.

The aim is to return federal apportionments to the levels authorized in 1958. In that year 2½ billion bollars was allotted for fiscal year 1961 and $2,200,000,000 for fiscal year 1962. These amounts were cut to $1,800,000,000 and two billions, respectively.

NSIA PETITIONS:

Want To Junk Schools Board

The Nebraska School Improvement Association has started a petition drive for a November vote on amendments to the constitution which would abolish the State Board of Education and make the education commissioner an elective post.

Forms for the petition to be circulated were filed with Secretary of State Frank Marsh Wednesday by S. H. Brauer Jr. of Stuart, field representative of the association.

Nebraska now elects a 6-member board from over the state which is the executive body for the State Department of Education. The Board appoints the election commission who is the top administrative officer.

42,107 Signers

In order to gets its proposals on the ballot, the NSIA must obtain 42,107 valid signatures on petitions by July 7.

The 42,107 total represents 10% of the total vote cast for governor in the last general election. This must include distribution equal to 5% of the vote cast for governor in each of 38 counties in the state.

Second Try

This will mark the NSIA's second attempt to make the education commissioner's post an elective office.

In 1958 the NSIA failed by 3,000 to get the required number of valid signatures to place the issue on the ballot.

The group's 1960 effort differs in that it includes a proposed abolishment of the State Board of Education.

Brauer said the drive to obtain petition signatures would begin immediately and said it is hoped the drive can be completed by the end of March.

Hallam Tour Begins Big Basin Meet

An estimated 150 persons will attend day-long sessions of the 111th meeting of the Missouri Basin Inter-Agency Committee in Lincoln Thursday.

The two-day affair opened Wednesday with a tour of the Hallam atomic power facility being constructed by Consumers Public Power District.

Early-arriving delegates also toured the Smithsonian Institution laboratory Wednesday night.

Meanwhile, the programming subcommittee named sites for the committee's next 3 sessions: April at Minot, N.D.; June at Yellowstone National Park, and August at Boulder, Colo.

E. F. Hower of Billings, Mont., associated with the Department of Interior, presided at the subcommittee meeting.

Weather Howdy: Colder, Cloudy

Nebraskans will get another dose of partly cloudy skies Thursday in the east with considerable cloudiness and occasional light snow west.

The state can expect the mercury to dip Thursday, especially in the extreme north and east.

Thursday's high temperatures are expected to range from 20 to 30 over most of the state to 15 to 20 in the northeast.

A reading of 39 at McCook was Wednesday's high temperature. Omaha and Norfolk had the overnight low of 8. Lincoln's high was 27, the low 16.

Critics Of Foreign Aid Plan Hit By President

...Program Used As 'Whipping Boy,' Ike Says

Washington (AP) — Striking back sharply at critics of his foreign aid proposals, President Eisenhower said Wednesday "it's the whipping boy for everybody who wants to have another dam built or something else done in his area."

Critics of the $4,175,000,000 outlay Eisenhower proposed to Congress are predicting that in this election year at least a billion dollars will be carved out of it. That would put the total at about last year's level.

Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas commented that "it is obvious that the Congress, which has been told the nation must live under a high budget, is not going to take the lid off foreign aid until it has made a thorough examination of the facts."

"In my judgment, it will approve the amount that can be justified," Johnson added without predicting what that might be.

Herter Defends It

As Eisenhower spoke at his news conference of the need to sell America on foreign aid, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter was defending the program at the start of hearings on it by the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Herter said the United States cannot withhold "that marginal element of technical and economic assistance" growing nations need, nor fail to help some of the harder pressed allies. The price of holding back in these responsibilities, he said, would be to see "the rest of the non-communist world . . . swallowed up bit by bit."

Calls It Mutual Security

Eisenhower told reporters "there is no program that the United States is pursuing now that is so much to our own interests as this one of mutual security."

Then he made the point that some members of Congress seeking to impress voters back home with efforts to get approval of local projects make foreign aid a "whipping boy." He mentioned no one specifically.

Foreign aid, Eisenhower said, has "the political appeal of just an ordinary clod out in the field—none."

Then the President went on to say that "if the United States as a whole can be waked up to our best interests" foreign aid will be supported generously.

TAX COLLECTOR FOE

Missouri farmer John Knight, 90, says he's giving $60,000 in assets to churches and relatives so it won't be left "in one piece and have taxes get most of it" when he dies. Knight, who wants nothing but a "clean heart and clear head" when he dies, says he has hated the government since it collected $45 in taxes on his first farm.

Corn Starch Study OK'd

$17,800 PROJECT DESIGNED TO UNEARTH NEW USES

By Betty Person

A pioneering and exploratory study on the chemical and enzymatic modification of 3 kinds of starches found in corn was approved Wednesday by the Nebraska Agricultural Products Research Fund Committee.

The project, which will cost a total of $17,800, will be supervised by Dr. J. H. Pazur of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

The study on ordinary, waxy and high amylose starches found in corn will be carried on in the University's laboratories.

Two-Fold Goals

Pearle F. Finigan, Nebraska director of agriculture and chairman of the committee, said objectives of the project, which will take about 5 years, are two-fold:

1. To isolate starches from different crops such as wheat, corn, potatoes, sorghum, high amylose corn and to investigate their chemical and physical properties desirable in industrial uses.

2. To uncover chemical and enzymatic reactions which can be used to produce modified starches with unique chemical and physical properties of industrial importance.

Finigan said several types of evidence indicate that combinations of the chemical and enzymatic procedures may result in the production of other new products with potential industrial application, according to the project proposal submitted by Pazur.

'Unique' Finds

The exploratory work with various enzymes and chemical reactions will be conducted with corn starch and will be extended to any unique starch discovered in the preliminary survey of starches, according to the project outline.

The committee also approved a plan to bring in a number of leaders in science and industry to meet with the committee within the next month to discuss industrial uses of agricultural products.

Columbus businessman Raymond Arndt reported to the committee on recent developments in drying whole milk and field pelleting equipment for alfalfa.

Other committee members attending the meeting were Vince Rossiter Sr. of Hartington, Thone Johnson of Fremont, Bob Rauner of Gurley and Dean W. V. Lambert of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

Land Mark Group Gets 5 Members

Gov. Ralph Brooks Wednesday announced the appointment of 5 members to the Historical Land Marks Council which was authorized by the 1959 Legislature.

The governor's appointees are: Prof. J. R. Johnson of Wayne, 4-year term; Gerald J. McGinley of Ogallala, 4-year term; L. K. Cramb of Fairbury, 3-year term; Robert L. Carlisle of Norfolk, two-year term, and Miss Irma Costello of Omaha, one-year term.

In addition to the 5 appointed members, the governor and state engineer serve as ex-officio members of the committee, and the director of the Nebraska State Historical Society is designated as secretary to the council.

The council is charged with the duty of making and preserving historical landmarks in the state.

The governor's office said it is contemplated that under the council's direction and encouragement, Nebraska will develop a program of authentic and uniform historical markers placed with reference to accessability to the motoring public.

'Real' Traditions'

Such a program will make the history and traditions of Nebraska more real and more available to our citizens, and give visitors to the state a better opportunity to become familiar with Nebraska's past, the governor's office said.

Dr. W. D. Aeschbacher, Historical Society director, said the council would meet in the "near future" to organize and develop basic criteria for selecting locations eligible for land mark council markers.

Legislation authorizing establishment of historical landmarks was first passed in the 1957 Legislature and was sponsored by the Historical Society, Highway Department and Resources Division.

Nikita Heads For Indonesia; Burma Cool To Offer Of Aid

The Soviet leader made no farewell speech at the airport.

A joint Soviet-Burmese communique was to be issued later, but one official said it probably would be confined to such generalities as expressions of friendship and a mutual desire for disarmament and peace.

Khrushchev reportedly urged the Burmese officials to accept additional "gift" projects from the Russian people to the Burmese people." The Russians now are building a technological institute and a hotel in the Rangoon area.

It was believed Khrushchev's offer was not accepted. Former Premier U Nu, who is expected to resume the premiership in April as a result of his party's election victory Feb. 6, has said repeatedly that such gifts are not consistent with Burma's policy of neutrality in the cold war.

Pennants For Hosts

The Burmese public paid little attention to Khrushchev, and he drew the biggest applause of his visit with some words on Soviet successes in space.

The Russian premier Wednesday night gave President U Win Maung and Premier Ne Win copies of the pennant device carried to the moon by a Soviet rocket.

He told Burma's leaders they will have to be content with copies "because," he said, "our original is on the moon."

Grocery Airlift

Food flown in from Moscow was set up on outdoor tables in subtropic weather.

Khrushchev obliquely chided Burma during the day for accepting cash gifts from the United States.

"You need trained specialists to raise your economy," he said. "You cannot raise your economy by invocation or by accepting a dole."

He obviously referred to Burma's acceptance in 1959 of an American multi-million dollar aid grant.

School Bus Loses Wheel, None Hurt

Driver Tom Malloy said the tire apparently hit a large chuckhole, blew out, flipping off the wheel. The bus continued down the street for about a half block before stopping. Malloy said he had no brakes after the wheel came off.

Chessman Chances Dim

. . . HIGH STATE COURT AGAINST CLEMENCY

San Quentin, Calif. (AP) — Desperate appeals by convict-author Caryl Chessman to escape execution Friday were rejected Wednesday by the United States and California Supreme Courts. Gov. Edmund G. Brown all but closed the door against any action on his part to save him.

Gov. Brown

As the clock ticked toward Chessman's date with death in the San Quentin gas Chamber Friday, there were these swift developments:

1. The U.S. Supreme Court rejected without comment Chessman's appeal for a writ for habeas corpus and a stay of execution. Following this action Chessman, at a news conference, commented that his 12-year court battle to escape the gas chamber "is all over."

2. The State Supreme Court, after deliberating 1 hour and 50 minutes, voted 4 to 3 against recommending clemency.

3. Gov. Brown issued a statement saying Chessman must die unless the State Supreme Court reconsiders. Chessman's attorney, George T. Davis, said he would petition the court Thursday for reconsideration.

Needs Recommendation

The governor cannot commute Chessman's sentence to life imprisonment unless the state Supreme Court so recommends. Barring that, the only recourse open to the governor would be to grant a reprieve — a postponement of execution.

But Thursday's petition to the state court for reconsideration seems to be Chessman's last legal move.

Davis said he had telephoned Gov. Brown and asked that a reprieve be granted. He said the governor replied that he would not comment pending Thursday's court action.

Will Stay In Office

In Sacramento, Gov. Brown said he would remain in his office Thursday rather than attend the opening ceremonies of the winter Olympic games at Squaw Valley as he had intended.

Chessman's last hope in his 12-year fight to escape execution is that Davis might persuade one member of the 7-justice State Supreme Court to change his vote.

President Labels 'Despicable' Any Charge He Misled People

Eisenhower Talks To Nation On Sunday

Washington (AP)—President Eisenhower Wednesday pronounced the nation's defenses strong, awesome and universally respected—and hotly denounced as "despicable" any charge that he has misled the people on that score.

Eisenhower announced he will have more to say about national security and will discuss his South American trip which starts next week in a nationwide radio-TV address Sunday night (5:15 p.m. CST).

The state of national defense claimed a dominant spot in the President's news conference. In and out of Congress, controversy and counter-claims have been exploding around this vital issue for months.

What triggered something of a presidential outburst Wednesday was word from a newsman that critics charge the administration "has been complacent in advising the people of the danger we face in the world" and that economy may stand in the way of developing new weapons.

Grates His Words

The question was whether Eisenhower believes the administration has misled the American people in any way or whether any money has been withheld from any needed weapon. Grating out his words, the chief executive replied:

"If anybody — anybody — believes that I have deliberately misled the American people, I'd like to tell him to his face what I think about him. This is a charge that I think is despicable, and I have never made it against anyone in the world, and I wouldn't as long — unless he were in a bar of justice somewhere to be tried for something that was intolerable."

From there, the President went on to review the history of U.S. defenses since the end of World War II — a period he saw as one of disarming, falling behind in almost every field of development, reversing directions after the Korean War began, and trying to build an adequate deterrent and defensive power.

"This is what I believe we've been trying to do with all our might," Eisenhower said, "and I get tired of saying that defense is to be made an excuse for wasting dollars. I don't believe we should pay one cent for defense more than we have to.

Our Defense "Awesome"

"But I do say this: Our defense is not only strong, it is awesome, and it is respected elsewhere."

The news conference began and ended with defense, and touched on that and a dozen other topics in between.

Big Outfits Indicted For Price-Fixing

Three of the firms—General Electric Co. of New York; Westinghouse Electric Corp. of Pittsburgh and I-T-E Circuit Breaker Co. of Philadelphia—were among 5 indicted by the same jury earlier on price-fixing and bid-rigging.

The government alleges monopolistic and illegal practices, in violation of federal anti-trust laws, affecting sales of heavy electrical equipment totalling nearly 265 million dollars.

The 4 indictments—there were 3 earlier—involve sale of bushings, distribution lightning arresters, intermediate lightning arresters, station cutout combination units, insulators and open fuse cutouts.

All of this equipment, said the Justice Department, "is used in the generation, transmission and distribution of electricity throughout the United States."

U.S., Britain Set To Build Radar Site

Washington (AP)—The United States and Britain have agreed to build near the English east coast a huge, super-powered radar station capable of detecting Soviet ballistic missiles shortly after they are launched deep inside Russia.

The agreement was announced in Washington and London. It was concluded through an exchange of notes in London Monday.

The 120 million dollar ballistic missile early warning station will be the 3rd super radar installation in a northern early warning system.

The first installation at Thule, Greenland, is nearing completion. The second at Clear, Alaska, is under construction. Each reportedly will be capable of detecting missiles as they soar into the sky from a distance of more than 3,000 miles.

The United States will supply and install the long-range radar equipment and data processing machines — the electronic "brains" for high speed computation—at a cost for it share of the establishment of 98 million dollars. The British government will supply land, buildings, power plant and other installations at a cost of 22 million.

The site of the station was announced as Flyingdales Moor National Park, Yorkshire, about halfway between London and Edinburgh.

Britain Is Girding To Counter Enemy Subs

London (AP)—Britain's Navy Wednesday announced a new building program based on killer submarines and guided missile destroyers capable of keeping sea lanes open to this island kingdom.

The report to Parliament is in line with a new Defense Ministry program for smaller but more mobile military forces using modernized arms on land, sea and in the air, announced on Tuesday.

The Navy said the last British battleship, the 45,000-ton Vanguard, will be scrapped along with 10 other warships considered outdated by the atomic age.

The Navy asked Parliament for 397,500,000 pounds ($1,113,000,000) for the fiscal year beginning April 1 — an increase of 26,800,000 pounds ($75,040,000) over the current level. About 103 million pounds ($288,400,000) will go to build new ships, aircraft and associated equipment.

The submarine program calls for two nuclear craft and 11 conventional types. All are "killer" types designed to hunt and destroy other submarines.

Senate To Hear Data On Defense From Symington

Richmond, Va. (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) said he will take the floor of the Senate next week "and give more facts" designed to show that the U.S. defense position is inferior to Russia's.

In a full-scale press conference, Symington answered a flat "No" when asked whether the American defense force stacks up as well as Russia's.

"Our technology is way behind," said Symington, billed in some circles as a potential Democratic candidate for president. Psychologically, he said, "we never move unless we're pushed. Economically we're ahead but physically we're slipping."

Civil Rights Bill OK Still Far Away

. . Forward Steps Taken

Washington (AP) — Congress moved two steps closer Wednesday toward passage of new civil rights legislation, but the end appeared to be weeks away.

The House Rules Committee, which has been taking its time since last August, agreed informally to clear a bill for House consideration.

The Senate Rules Committee received a bill from its chairman, Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr., (D-Mo), designed to help Southern Negroes vote with the aid of federal officials.

Hennings, however, sent word he was ill and asked that action on his measure be delayed.

The House committee acted under pressure, since about 209 members of the House were reported to have signed a petition that would take the legislation away from the committee for direct action. Only 10 more signatures would be needed.

Lumber Merchants Convention Starts

Omaha (AP) — Attendance of about 2,000 persons was expected at the annual 3-day convention of the Nebraska Lumber Merchants Assn., which opened Wednesday.

Communism-Church Tie-In Repudiated By AF

Washington (AP)—The Air Force repudiated Wednesday and banned from further circulation or use a manual which says communism has infiltrated the nation's churches.

The documents also says there is current a foolish idea that Americans have the right to know what is going on.

Churchmen were shocked and the Pentagon directorate appalled when the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. and military chaplains called attention to the manual issued by the reserve training branch of the Continental Air Command.

Inquiry Demanded

There were demands in Congress for a committee investigation. Secretary of the Air Force Dudley Sharp issued a statement saying he "categorically repudiated the publication as representing Air Force views" and announcing that Air Force Headquarters had ordered withdrawal of the manual last week, when its existence became known to headquarters.

President Eisenhower, at his news conference, told a questioner that "I understand the secretary of air found out about it very recently, that he has recalled the thing and repudiated it as a statement of policy."

On Capitol Hill, Congress members reacted. Chairman John E. Moss (D-Calif) of the House Government Information subcommittee said his group wants to know everything about the manual—"who wrote it, who approved it, and who is responsible."

Called Stupid

Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn) commented: "The reflection upon the loyalty of the great body of American clergymen in the Air Force reserve training manual is unjustified and outrageous. The issuance of such a manual is inexcusably stupid. I shall urge the Senate Armed Services Committee to make a full investigation of the circumstances."

The manual was issued by the Training Command Headquarters of the Continental Air Command at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., with 6,100 copies printed. Of these, 3,290 had been distributed to reserve training centers around the country before the withdrawal order was issued, the Air Force said.

Paar Makes Stop In San Francisco, Declines To Talk

San Francisco, Calif. (AP) — Television personality Jack Paar arrived here Wednesday night—tight-lipped and unsmiling. He declined to talk to newsmen.

Paar arrived on a Western Airlines flight from Los Angeles and left an hour later on a Pan-American jet for Honolulu and a vacation.

At International Airport one reporter asked Paar if he had been asked by his employer, National Broadcasting Co., not to talk. Paar lowered his head, compressed his lips and was led by an NBC representative to a waiting car.

Paar and his wife, Marian are taking a vacation after the TV star's abrupt departure from his late night show and subsequent announcement he would return March 7.

The Nature of Sanity

Sanity depends upon belief in the friendliness of the universe. Just looking around at the world as we see it, we may find such belief hard to accept. Yet such belief may be accepted without rationalization if we but look at nature in terms of direction.

In the simpler forms of life, "friendliness" and "dependency" may be considered as synonymous so far as the same species is concerned. The single-celled animal depends upon nothing but what it eats, continuing its own kind just by dividing in two. More complex forms of life require at least the dependency upon two sexes for survival.

Still more complex forms of life involve caring for the young. Probably in human life, social organization began as a means of protecting the young from cannibalism. It seems unlikely that two savages suddenly developed such love for one another as to form a clan.

"Love," or "dependency," seems inextricably related to the propagation of the race, in one way or another. The direction of life appears to be in the direction of love as life becomes more complex. Just as the organs of the body become more inter-dependent as the body becomes more complex, so do people become more inter-dependent as society becomes more complicated.

Ultimately, our society will prosper or retrogress as it conforms to the emotional direction of the universe. And that direction is apparently toward friendliness and cooperation rather than toward hostility, as may be observed in Nature.

If our way of life is cooperative, without destroying creativity, such way of life must ultimately triumph. If our pattern of life does not conform to the basic direction of Nature, we will ultimately destroy ourselves, with or without the help of any outside force.

New School Ready In Prison

. . . INMATES AID IN CONSTRUCTION OF MODERN CLASSROOMS

By Nancy Ray

"The works" includes a 9-classroom school, completely new, now nearing completion. The second floor of the prison administration building has been turned into as modern a school as $20,000 and months of inmate work could produce.

The school boasts the prison's first central heating unit—eliminating radiators—soft shaded walls of hues recommended for education buildings, acoustical tile, asphalt tile flooring, fluorescent lighting, modern green chalkboards and handsome birch trim.

Desks, made or rejuvenated by prison industry workers, are painted beige to blend with the surroundings.

To Open Soon

School will probably start by March 1 as soon as the final touches are applied, and grow from elementary to secondary in the near future, with addition of college level courses possible at some future time.

The new school's capacity at any given hour is about 200.

Blount will start out with evening classes in reading and writing, and work toward the State Department of Education accreditation plus course work leading to a high school diploma.

As enrollment grows, additional classes may be added during afternoon hours.

Side Benefit

The school would serve a side benefit to the penitentiary by supplementing the inmates' program of work. Men attending regular classes would not need to be employed, and men now working in prison industries might go to school, leaving openings for others to work.

"Unemployment" because of lack of job assignments is one of the penitentiary's problems at present. Blount said. Not enough equipment and not enough orders are available to employ all the men all the time and idle time makes prison terms seem even longer, he added.

Improvements in the State Penitentiary's school are eyed by Harold Blount, educational director, left. At right is one of the old classrooms. (Star Photo.)

Under present plans, which may change as the school gets into operation, inmates who cannot read or write, and who are of school age, may be required to attend classes. All other phases of the program will be voluntary.

Teachers Needed

Instructors for the school are also a problem. At present, Blount is the only teacher available, but he hopes to draw on available teachers in the area, qualified inmate help, and perhaps hire additional full time help.

"We feel we have the duty to provide any course which a considerable group of students want," Blount explains. He hopes that interest in the school will grow as classes start, and believes the new school will aid in drawing students.

"You now have the time and the opportunity to receive that high school diploma, or that grade school education, you missed," Blount tells incoming inmates.

Education Yardstick

"Remember. that men on the 'outside' are judged by the yardstick of education."

He adds: "Right or wrong, education is the accepted yardstick for ability to do certain jobs, and the man with the most education applying usually lands the job."

Degrees awarded at the new school will have no mention of the penitentiary in their wording, Blount assures inmates. He is working out details with the State Department of Education.

"No environment here or anywhere is better than a school," he advises inmates, "and it is our job and your job to see that you leave this institution as better men than when you came."

$32 Million Loan Offer

New Delhi, India (AP)—Polish Ambassador Julius Katz-Suchy said his government is willing to lend India $32,000,000 for the third 5-year plan, beginning in 1961. The loan is subject to a special agreement on economic co-operation between the two countries.

Youth Shot In Leg By Officer After Resisting Arrest

Norfolk (AP)—Dale Carstens, 21, of Norfolk was shot in the left leg by Police Officer Tom Higgenbotham early Wednesday when he resisted arrest and threatened two officers with a long-bladed knife Chief Irvin F. Ferris reported.

Ferris said Carstens was wounded above the knee. He was held in the city awaiting charges which authorities said probably would allege assault with intent to do great bodily harm and carrying concealed weapons.

Ferris said Carstens threatened a customer in a bar with the knife and fled. He was captured by police a half block away. He was shot when he refused to drop the knife as he advanced towards Higgenbotham and Officer Leo Hayes, the officers reported.

266 CHILDREN SERVED BY CATHOLIC BUREAU

The Catholic Social Service Bureau of the Diocese of Lincoln served 266 children in 1959, the Rev. Edward C. Tuchek, director of the bureau and St. Thomas Orphanage, reported at the annual meeting held Wednesday.

St. Thomas Orphanage provided 144 children 14,610 days care, of which 9,690 days care was given Lincoln children. The day nursery served 62 Lincoln children in 602 days care. Sixty children received care apart from St. Thomas.

The bureau received 89 applications for child placement during the year. Of these, 32 adoptive studies were completed, 49 are under study, 8 approved homes are awaiting placement, and 33 homes in which placements were made are under supervision, according to the report.

Unwed Aided

Casework services were given to 36 unmarried mothers; 22 couples received marriage counseling, and 92 parents received professional service through which 196 children were benefited, according to the Rev. Mr. Tuchek.

Six families received homemaker services in an emergency, and 19 families, 22 individuals and 54 children received emergency relief through the bureau.

The financial report for the Catholic Social Serice Bureau showed $19,586.15 in total disbursements, and $4,907.38 for St. Thomas Orphanage for the year.

Airport Rezoning OKd Making Way For Plant

Omaha (AP)—The Omaha City Council has voted 6-0 to rezone the Clear Ridge Airport at the north edge of Omaha to open the way for the proposed Vickers, Inc., plant.

The plant would employ 3,000 persons at the start and parking would be provided for 4,000 cars.

Sub Hunters Still Blasting

Puerto Madryn, Argentina (AP)—Navy men at the Golfo Nuevo insisted Wednesday that a mystery submarine still is lurking beneath the surface. Ships and planes still dumped depth charges or bombs into the gulf.

There was no official confirmation of a widespread feeling that the submarine—if that's what it is—had escaped through the gulf's narrow mouth to the Atlantic.

Navy sources in Buenos Aires reported no sonar contact since Sunday. To the Navy this indicated an escape, although many Argentines are doubtful there ever was a submarine there at all.

For the 19th day, ships and planes were operating in the 20-by-40 mile gulf located 650 miles southwest of Buenos Aires.

U.S. antisubmarine experts helped direct strategy.

Incorporators are Edward H. Itzen, Verneta A. Itzen and Paul E. Haberlan, all of Lincoln. The firm was authorized to issue $10,000 capital stock.

Another Military Goof-Up

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The people who write the military manuals have an uncanny knack for writing the wrong thing. In some respects, the many blunders that occur in print by the armed services are typical of the organizations they represent and the history of these groups. They typify the services in their lack of common sense.

The latest foul ball is one in which an Air Force Reserve manual attempts to link communism with the churches of America and notes that it is "foolish" to believe that the people have a right to know what's going on. The manual could probably not have struck at a more tender spot than that. Rightfully, the churches and the press would take violent issue with any such assertion as that. There is no doubt that the ministry of the nation's churches harbors some Communists but to say that the churches in general are therefore Communist-infiltrated is ridiculous on the face of the thing.

Churches And Communism

Any church, in fact, is a thorn in the side of communism as the principles of Christianity are at direct odds with the philosophy of the Russian political and social system. This latter philosophy is strictly materialistic — giving no quarter whatsoever to Christian ideals of brotherly love or a hereafter. Where Christianity cries out for freedom of the individual, communism demands his subjugation.

This is not to say, on the other hand, that the atheist is any more a Communist than the Christian but a true Communist must be an atheist. In the Reds' way of looking at life, the individual exists for the state and for no other reason. In any Christian country, just the opposite is ture.

Just as shocking as the statement on the churches was the remark about the public's right to know what is going on. "Keep in mind," the manual said, "that public news media present only as much information as the government wants to release." It would be difficult to conjure up anything more stupid sounding than this. There are two fallacies in any such statement as that. One lies in the insinuation that the press would be a party to such a thing and this is about as far from the truth as it is possible to get.

We defy the author of that bit of baloney to produce the name of any newspaper which subscribes to such a standard of conduct. The other fallacy would lie in the assumption that the press is able to obtain only that news which the government wants to print. This is either ignorance or misrepresentation of the first order as any perusal of the news columns will show. Every week the news columns contain stories which the government would not have wanted released if it had any choice in the matter.

Not only is the statement incorrect in the light of current practice but it is a dangerous thing to advocate, even for the military. In fact, a great part of the difficulty we are having today in settling our national defense problem is the fact that no one knows for sure just what we have in comparison with Russia.

There is no question that there are some things which cannot, for the sake of national security, be made public but there are a multitude of things hidden from the public for this reason but which fail to qualify as national security. Also, there is a great tendency to let the public think that we have more than we do by telling the people that we can't talk about everything we have.

People then believe that we have great hidden power when such is not the case at all. This provides an easy out for officials who want to look good but know they can't offer any proof to back up their assertions. What the military manual is saying is that the government knows what is good for the people better than the people know themselves. This is a doctrine very fitting to a Communist organization but hardly in place for an organization under democracy. It is a statement which furthers the concept of mass conformity but this is not too surprising coming from the military.

False Illusion of Power

One of the greatest personnel problems the military has had lies in the area of individual freedom and treatment. It is because the military leans too heavily toward a strict social class system or feudalism that it finds such limited acceptance among the nation's manpower. Such thoughts as are expressed in the Air Force Reserve manual are a good sign that the military still has substantial evolution to experience before it is caught up with the rest of the social and political order of the day.

Foreign Aid Battle

Unfortunately, Democrats have served notice that the $4 billion-plus foreign aid request of President Eisenhower's will be met with many reservations. It is unfortunate from two points of view. For one thing, Eisenhower could have done a great deal more to eliminate the points of argument with the Democrats.

Particularly, he might have attempted to show that the alleged waste in foreign aid has never been proven. This has been one of the areas of most frequent criticism of this program and has led to a number of congressional investigations but there have never been sufficient grounds to conclude that waste is a serious factor. Nor did the President make any effort to show in detail that the funds for foreign aid would go to assist other nations in the areas of their greatest need or even in an area of greatest benefit to the United States.

Thus, the President has failed to strengthen the program of federal aid with any up-to-date analysis of what it means and exactly what it will accomplish. He has, in effect, dusted off the same thing he submitted last year and the year before that. In doing this, he must share a part of the blame for whatever bad treatment the program receives at the hands of the Senate.

The other disappointing thing is that the Democrats will obviously use foreign aid as a happy hunting grounds for cash to be placed into vote-getting domestic programs. They will take advantage of the weak position in which the President has left the program and cut billions from foreign aid. This is a safe approach as there are few voters who will complain when money is taken from a foreign nation and handed to the people here at home. But it is an expediency which has a very good possibility of coming back to haunt us at some future time in the form of spreading Communist influence throughout the world.

Matter For Diplomacy

Senator Carl Curtis means to step into the breech with a sugar act amendment with the two forked design of giving Cuba the old what for and Nebraska sugar beet growers a bigger acreage allotment.

Thinking outloud the senator revealed to the press that he would fix it so that any foreign country which nationalizes its sugar production or expropriates American ownership shall immediately be deprived of its import quota.

It is doubtful that the Congress will swing in behind his idea although it may sound like sweet music to his beet raising constituents in Nebraska. And it would indeed be myopic to entrust the extremely delicate Cuban American relations to such a sledge hammer blow.

The momentary issue of sugar is not the prime ingredient in the Cuban matter. What is going on in Cuba is a portentous revolution a few miles from the American shore with the untenable factor of communist encroachment. In the face of that the question of more beet acres in Nebraska is of incidental interest. Perhaps the most delicate of maneuvers of the moment are to be called for in the sphere of American diplomacy to counter the trends in Cuba which could bring this country face to face with a full scale communist base so close to the United States that it could be considered a beach head.

The current problem of Cuba is primarily one for the administration and the state department and one that by all means should not be encumbered by expedient splinter measures tossed into Congress at the whim of any author.

ADC Under Fire

Because of a spate of dramatic stories centering on abuses of the federal program of aid to dependent children that particularly charitable and humane division of public welfare is currently nursing a black eye.

Instances have been cited where mothers have engaged in child production for the purpose of enriching themselves at public expense. Others have been cited where mothers have squandered the funds for the care of their children on other things, and where fathers do not cease being fathers but who hide out so that their children can live on society.

It goes without saying that the ADC program is confronted with the problem of dealing with some of the social dregs. And it also goes without saying that more diligence and expertness could bring a little sharper focus on well proven examples of chicanery. But a thoughtful public will bear in mind two things, (1) there are many, many cases of truly deserving, unfortunate homes that are being saved by the ADC program and, (2) there are many children who are being preserved into high level manhood and womanhood through it. It is doubtful that a socially conscious public would be influenced to reject such a wholesome and fruitful program on the basis of the disgraceful exception.

It is perhaps time for the federal government to review its ADC program in the light of some years experience and the flaws which practical trial have brought to light. But any resultant action should not contravene the fact that the program was instituted in behalf of children and not of adults and that misuse of the program by a certain few of the adults is no basis of action against the children in general. It is possible to more sharply define the responsibilities of the parents and to provide more effective punishment for such as defeat the purpose of ADC, but the understanding and helpful care of childhood should by no means be impaired by any such steps.

Unexpected Solution

Secretary Benson should strike a medal in behalf of one industrialist who is going above and beyond the call of duty to solve the surplus grain problem. He is a Chicago lamp maker, and has lately turned to packing his lamps in pop corn instead of the usual excelsior. Cuts down breakage, keeps his packing department happy and gifts the ultimate customer a fine edible bonus, he says.

Hard Time Seen For Pollution Bill

WASHINGTON — Congressman Charlie Halleck of Indiana, Ike's debonair, hard-working leader of the House, is a great fisherman. When he goes to political conventions he likes to take rod and reel along. The quiet of a trout stream is solace to Charlie after the smoke-filled rooms.

Despite his love for clean fishing streams, however, Charlie is now maneuvering backstage to line up votes to support Ike's expected veto of $90,000,000 for river-pollution control. His love of Ike is greater than his love of clean water.

Ike too is a fisherman. He too loves the clean, well-stocked trout stream. But he loves a balanced budget more. And he is preparing a veto message cutting the $90,000,000 voted by Congress down to only $20,000,000. Ike is doing this despite the urgent warning of his own Health, Education, and Welfare experts that even more than $90,000,000 is needed to purify the nation's drinking water of raw sewage, radioactive waste, cancer-causing chemicals, and other contamination.

Paradoxical fact is that these same HEW experts who recommended more money have now been assigned the job of drafting Ike's veto message which would substitute bargain-basement pollution control. To sell this bargain-basement program to Congress, Ike is counting on debonair Charlie Halleck.

"Everyone of us would like to have a clear, pure stream where we could fish, where we could boat. I happen to be considerable of a fishing enthusiast and something of a boating enthusiast," he declared. "But I challenge anybody to get up here and deny that project after project has been approved over the country that involved the construction of sewage-disposal plants that had absolutely no connection with any sort of stream on which you could catch a fish or run a boat."

Apparently Halleck didn't bother to check his own Indiana district which has received $135,999 from the federal government to clean up the local streams. Another $234,300 has been requested.

Charlie's home town of Rensselaer still dumps raw sewage into the Iroquois river. To discuss what to do about this health hazard, the State Stream Pollution Control Board has called a public hearing. The only solution the community can afford will be to ask for part of the federal appropriation Halleck is trying to slash.

NOTE — At the last election, so many Indiana voters complained that Halleck didn't know what was going on in his own district that he squeaked through by the narrow margin of only 6,000 votes.

Little Force Back Of Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower has sent to Congress a foreign-aid bill which is adjusted neither to changed conditions abroad nor to the temper of the times.

The obvious target is always the size of foreign aid. The President last year asked for just under $4 billion and after a hot fight saw that amount cut about $700 million. He has returned to the fray with a demand for $4,175,000,000.

Nobody expects him to get it.

Students of the foreign-aid problem, as distinct from national defense, have been raising warning signals for some time past about the need for new and creative plans for helping the underdeveloped nations. Senator Mike Mansfield of Montana is one of these. He sees nothing in the new request to indicate that anyone in the executive branch has paid attention to their complaints.

The President's attacks on congressional extravagance and his free use of the veto power have for some time constituted an open invitation to congressional retaliation. The Democratic Congress has hesitated to do it in the field of foreign aid because it is originally their program and because Democrats have had a wholesome fear of the Eisenhower political appeal.

But they have been noticeable cooling toward large foreign-aid outlays in the old pattern, and they have acquired courage to rebuff the President because he is going out and they have high hopes of electing a Democratic president.

The administration could only have countered this mood with some kind of nonpartisan drive engineered from without the government by internationalists of great prestige in both parties. It has not done so, and there is nothing to indicate it tried.

The attitude of Washington toward situations of this kind is curiously fatalistic these days. No real hostility exists toward the principle that the United States can and should help less fortunate nations, but there is no feeling of exaltation about it either, no drive apparent anywhere for it.

Only a few bills considered to have direct impact on key segments of voters have a chance in such a climate. Civil rights is an obvious case in point; that is why so much of the relatively short time remaining before the start of the national conventions will be allotted to it.

Another lethal aspect of the times is that with drastic change impending at the White House, no matter which party wins, the individual politician in both executive and legislative branches plays it safe. All his energy and gifts of tongue are expended in the purely partisan political arena and will be until after the voters have spoken next November.

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

To Your Good Health

"Dear Dr. Molner: I suffered a coronary attack six years ago and another mild one two years ago. My doctor advises me to take an anticoagulant every day to lessen coagulation of the blood. Is it dangerous to take the drug over a period of years?—M.A."

I have a notion that a good many people might be worrying about the same thing. The anticoagulant drugs, including the one you mention, are comparatively new. They hadn't been developed when you and I were young men. But in the last several years they have been doing wonderful service, and we have had a great deal of experience with them.

Dr. Molner

The purpose of an anticoagulant, of course, is to prevent the formation of blood clots by retarding the ability of the blood to coagulate. After one has had a coronary, or heart attack, it is of the utmost importance to prevent blood clots, as the same factor causing one may bring about a second attack.

In passing, it is worth noting that you had your heart attack six years ago, and the mild one two years ago. The term "heart attack" is a scary one, but people should learn to realize the truth: While no heart attack ever is "minor," with modern treatment we have thousands upon thousands of people who have survived them and now are healthy, happy and vigorous.

Where, as in your case, anticoagulants are advised, it's wise to take them.

In proper dosage, these drugs not only are helpful in preventing formation of clots, but they are safe to take.

If taken in excessive amounts, of course, the drugs would not only prevent clots but also would prevent the body from stopping any case of bleeding when it started. The nose might bleed, or ulcers, or minor cuts, or whatnot.

But—and here's the crux of the matter — blood tests from time to time will reveal just what the situation is. The test in this case is what is known as a determination of prothrombin time, which means a determination of how long the blood takes to clot.

If these tests are taken at reasonable intervals, you can be assured that the drug remains satisfactory. Or, of course, the size of the daily dose can be adjusted.

The result is that these drugs can safely be taken over long periods of time. The good they do is enormous.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My head itches all the time. I have my hair done once a week, and never use a dye or tint. — D.C."

Is having it "done" once a week drying the scalp too much? There may be a sensitivity to the shampoo used or you may have as kin disorder of the scalp.

☆ ☆ ☆

H. J. McV.: I would't say that "gout is arthritis." Gout is a very specific disease. On the other hand, "arthritis" is a general term, implying stiffness and pain in the joints. There certainly is such a thing as "gouty arthritis," in which the gout attacks a joint.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter is in college and gets very nervous before she has to take a test. Is there anything she can take before an exam?—Mrs. E.B."

And get in the habit of needing a "crutch" every time she encounters a minor crisis? No! She'll get through the tests all right—but she can acquire a lifelong bad habit if she resorts to "taking something" rather than learning to accept the normal stresses of life.

"Dear Dr. Molner: What effect if any has smoking on poor blood circulation, and blood clotting?—D.J."

Smoking constricts the small arteries, and hence impedes circulation. If circulation already is impaired, tobacco should definitely be avoided. I don't know that it has any special effect on formation of blood clots, except that the constriction might be the difference between a clot lodging somewhere and causing trouble, or not.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My son, 21, has had a sinus condition for several months. Can blowing his nose so often develop an ear condition?—Mrs. G.

It could, by forcing infection into the Eustachian tubes, which lead to the ears. I don't say it WILL cause ear trouble, but it could. The sooner it is cleared up, the safer.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to thet remendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Reader's questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Ulcer Control

Tekamah, Neb.

I am a Republican and proud of it. My father, grandfather and even great-grandfather were Republicans. You might say it is a family tradition with us, sort of like our religion.

There has been just too much talk about Eisenhower and Benson and the way they have been ruining the farmers. It is true we farmers aren't doing so well right now, but we have always had our up's and down's. Remember how tough things were under Hoover back in the early 30's, too? Anyway, Benson had to do something about those staggering surpluses the Democrats had piled up. I guess we still have some surpluses around, but it isn't too easy to straighten up a mess like we had.

We were real happy when Ike won the election in 1952. They said we needed a change, anyway. I guess most Republicans figured we'd needed that ever since Hoover got beat. Then, too, there was that deal when F.D.R. had the farmers kill those poor little pigs and plow under some of their crops just so they would get paid for what they did produce. You don't forget things like that.

We were afraid for a while that Ike might not make it with Stevenson doing all that high and mighty talking about needing more and better schools, better highways and nobody knows what all. We didn't listen to him much, of course, just couldn't stand him and his being a Democrat; we sure weren't thinking of voting for him no matter what he was promising to get done for us. All that talk did seem to be getting some people so confused, though, that they didn't know what they wanted. I guess it was when Ike said he'd go to Korea that he really turned the trick. I guess most people knew that the war was already stopped and that the armistice stalemate would end whenever the Commies decided to end it, but a lot of mothers probably figured that since Ike won the war in Europe, he would get the boys back from Korea. Maybe Ike picked up some votes among farmers, too, when he said they were entitled not to just 90 per cent of parity, but 100 per cent of parity. Of course, a lot of people voted for him, too, when he said he would reduce taxes, and if there are some who don't think he kept that promise, I say just let them ask any corporation executive or any other millionaire in the country. Even we farmers aren't paying nearly as much income tax as we might have been.

When Ike ran for re-election in 1956, he must have figured his record was so good that he didn't even have to campaign. He sure didn't make any promises that he didn't intend to keep this time, anyway. One thing that helped Ike get elected the second time, I think, was when that fellow came on TV that night. They showed him standing on a street corner with his dog on a sort of foggy night. Then he said it. I don't suppose I'll ever forget those words. He said, "We need him," meaning Ike, of course. Boy, that really got you down deep. Stevenson was still around and still doing a lot of talking about the lack of progressive and constructive action, whatever that is. He was even trying to scare people into voting for him by warning us that the Russians were getting ahead of us in some ways. That was four years ago and just the other day Ike reassured us that despite what some of our top military men are saying, we still haven't a thing to worry about. In fact, from what you can find out about it, it will be another two years before the Russians can hope to annihilate us. Maybe if more people would take up golf instead of doing so much worrying about what is going on in the world, there would be a lot fewer ulcers.

A REPUBLICAN AS SEEN BY A DEMOCRAT

North Platte, Neb.

Do the Democrats want to make a big mistake and nominate a Catholic for president? If they do, they will not elect a president, and they may if they nominate someone who is not. I do think Nelson Rockefeller could be drafted for the Democratic presidential nomination, although it is not needed with such men as Humphrey, Symington, Lyndon Johnson, Adlai Stevenson, Estes Kefauver, Fullbright, ex-Gov. Leader of Pennsylvania and others around.

I know a couple of Republican-minded editors who have been tooting Kennedy's horn. Now Nixon has come out against the religious issue as a part of the presidential campaign. No doubt he and many other Republicans hope the Democrats do nominate a Catholic because they think a Catholic cannot be elected president. Does anyone think many Catholics will vote for a Protestant for president if a Catholic is running also? And ask the question the other way around. If not, then the Protestant would be elected. That would mean that Nixon would certainly beat Kennedy but perhaps would not upset one of the other named men.

OPEN-MINDED DEMOCRAT

OFF THE RECORD By Ed. Reed

"Who will give me a quarter for my good-luck charm? I need carfare home!"

Rep. Brooks Backs Army In Its Plea For Nike-Zeus Missile Hurry-Up

Washington (AP)—The Army stepped up its fight to unfreeze funds for the Nike-Zeus anti-missile system and got strong backing from Chairman Overton Brooks (D-La) of the House Space Committee.

Two Senate committees, meanwhile, made public a warning by Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, Army chief of staff, that this country "would be stark naked" before a surprise Soviet ballistic missile attack unless a missile killer such as the Zeus is perfected.

Brooks joined the Army in protesting to the Department of Defense its withholding of 137 million dollars Congress voted last year to develop the Nike-Zeus.

Letter To President

In a letter to President Eisenhower, Brooks said:

"The testimony before this committee makes me firm in my conviction that the release of these funds to the Army at this time is essential."

Brooks' committee has been conducting a month-long investigation of the nation's space program. It heard testimony earlier from Dr. Herbert York, Defense Department director of research, that he had recommended withholding the 137 million dollars because the program had not yet proved workable.

Just before Brooks sent his letter to Eisenhower, Lt. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau, the Army's research chief, told the committee the Army had requested that 25 million dollars of the frozen funds be released immediately.

Trudeau said the Nike-Zeus offers the only possibility of a defense against enemy ballistic missiles before 1970 and could be ready "this side of 1965" if full speed was permitted now.

General Is Bitter

The general was bitter about the argument by York and other opponents of the system that it should prove itself conclusively before being given any production money.

"If the same view had been taken of lots of other weapons systems," Trudeau said, "they never would have gotten off the ground."

He said he was willing to face opponents of the program in a no-holds barred debate before a congressional committee.

Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker told the Space Committee earlier this week the Army had been told the entire 137 million dollars was being put into the 1961 reserve fund and would not be available to the Army this year.

Lemnitzer's warning was made in testimony made public by the Senate Space Committee and Armed Services Preparedness subcommittee. He testified earlier behind closed doors and the testimony was released after censoring.

Lemnitzer said withholding the Nike-Zeus funds "I think, would be a serious mistake because we would be stark naked before such an attack."

"The enemy," he said, "could then develop his missile plan with the assurance that he could knock out a given number of targets."

At the same time, Lemnitzer supported Eisenhower's proposal for a limited airborne alert capacity for the Strategic Air Command to counter the Soviet missile threat.

He said tests of the Nike-Zeus missile killer at the White Sands proving grounds in New Mexico so far had been encouraging.

"I don't think any Nike-Zeus will ever be 100% effective," the general said, adding that no new weapon ever is.

Accident Victim On 'Serious' List

Wesley A. Shufeldt of Rt. 6 was listed in serious but not critical condition at a local hospital after he was injured in a two-car accident Wednesday morning on U.S. 6 near the Pla-Mor Ballroom.

The Safety Patrol said Shufeldt, 47, suffered a crushed chest and leg injuries when his car was in collision with one driven by H. J. Winkler, 66, of 1912 K.

Winkler reportedly suffered chest, face and arm injuries and was listed in fairly good condition at a local hospital.

The Patrol said the mishap occurred about 9 a.m. when Winkler's car skidded on a patch of ice and was in near head-on collision with Shufeldt's car.

O. Henry said that New York City was "an aviary overstocked with jays (a country bumpkin who is a chatterbox)."

New Quarters Authorized For Uni Place Post Office

New quarters for the University Place Post Office Station have been authorized, according to an announcement made Wednesday by Congressman Phil Weaver after being advised of the matter by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

The site of the new quarters is on the west side of 48th Street between Huntington and Walker Streets, and was offered by A&H Realty Co. of Lincoln for $12,000.

It will contain about 3,580 sq. ft. of floor space, plus a loading platform. The site will provide adequate parking and truck maneuvering areas.

"This new and modern postal facility will be constructed under the Post Office Department's commercial leasing program, which utilizes the resources and investment funds of private enterprise to obtain needed postal buildings," Weaver said.

According to Lincoln Postmaster O. E. Jerner, bidding forms, specifications and other pertinent data will be available to prospective bidders in the near future and will be announced later at which time the Post Office Department will advertise for bids.

Stan Delaplane's POSTCARD

A fine blare of bugles from the barracks blew us out of bed in the early Honduras morning. The sky was just light. But already traffic was honking importantly in the narrow streets of Tegucigalpa.

We changed some dollars for lempiras (2-to-1) and went down to the market to buy machetes.

The machete is the working tool of Latin America and the Caribbean. A three-foot, broad blade on a simple wooden handle.

They are used to cut sugar cane. They chop down bananas. They clear brush, split the household firewood, bring down full-size trees and open jungle paths.

"What kind of machete is the very best, maestro?"

The machete-man has a little store opposite the open-air market where Indian women sit in front of piles of green choyotes and crisp jocotes. They sell fruits and peanuts and candy and hammocks made of sisal.

"Coe Leens," said the machete man. "The best machete is Coe Leens."

"Could we visit the factory?"

"Why not?" said the machete man. "When you go home to the States."

He pulled out the best machete. It is certainly close to home.

It is printed on the broad blade: "Collins. Made in Collinsville, Connecticut.

The machete man had the most ornate machete sheaths I have ever seen. Carved leather and tasseled.

We had him put up an Official Boy Scout machete. He could not ship it. Honduras is a complicated country. To get the Connecticut machete requires an import license. To ship it back to the same place, you need an export license.

We decided to carry it and have been looking terribly picturesque ever since.

Quite a number of us picturesque characters have come to Honduras. O. Henry who gave us a picture of banana revolutions and steamy tropical ports; William Walker—"the gray-eyed man of destiny" they called him in the San Francisco papers; and Lee Christmas whom I cannot seem to run down.

You hear about Lee Christmas in legends around Central America.

Apparently he was a railroad engineer from the States—the legends make him a big redhead. He was in various revolutions. And at least once was chief of the national police. But the trail is dim. Down here anyway.

A lot was written about William Walker. He was from Nashville, Tenn. A doctor at one time, a lawyer at another. He wound up as revolutionary President of Nicaragua.

The San Francisco and New Orleans papers idolized him as a libeator of these Spanish colonial countries. (But it seems the money and the arms and the outside inspiration lay in Commodore Vanderbilt's overland route in Nicaragua to the California goldfields.)

Anyway, the gray-eyed man made his invasions—(backed by adventurers from the California mines). They ran up mainly against raggedy peons, armed with machetes.

Walker fought across the country. Became Nicaragua's President. Lost and burned the ancient city of Granada.

He was captured down on the coast of Trujillo. And the Hondurans stood him against a wall and shot him.

Lahners Expected To Get Prosecuting Post

By Virgil Falloon

Ronald D. Lahners, a 26-year-old Lincoln attorney, is expected to be named Lincoln's first city prosecuting attorney on a full-time basis.

Mayor Pat Boyles and City Atty. Ralph Nelson confirmed Wednesday that Lahners' appointment would be recommended Tuesday to the City Council.

Under the recommendation, Lahners would become city prosecutor on June 1, but would serve until then in the now-vacant assistant prosecutor post.

Now Part-Time

Both the prosecutor and assistant posts are now part-time, but the council has agreed that a city prosecutor should be employed full-time because of the tremendous increase in Municipal Court and appeal cases in recent years.

The search for a new prosecutor began several months ago when City Prosecutor Thomas J. Gorham asked to be relieved from the post he has held since 1955, but said he would be willing to serve on a part-time assistant basis.

Nelson said Gorham will continue as city prosecutor until June 1, stepping into the assistant post when Lahners assumes the full-time duties of prosecutor.

Salary Hike

The city prosecutor post currently pays $4,300 annually on a part-time basis, but Nelson said the recommended full-time salary would be $6,750.

The assistant post on a per diem basis is currently set at a $2,400-a-year maximum.

Lahners, a native of Grand Island, was graduated from the University of Nebraska College of Law in June, 1959, and entered private practice in association with the Lincoln law firm of Nelson, Harding and Acklie.

During his senior year, Lahners was employed as a law clerk by the firm.

Lahners received a Bachelor of Science degree in law in 1955, then served two years in the U.S. Army as a first lieutenant of military police before returning to Nebraska in 1957 to complete his law studies.

Lahner is a member of the Lincoln and Nebraska bar associations, the Masons, Kappa Sigma fraternity and Delta Theta Phi, legal fraternity, and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

R. D. LAHNERS

He is married, has two children, and lives at 1904 So. 51st.

'59 Farmers Mutual Loss Payments Up

Loss payments to policyholders of Farmers Mutual Insurance Co. of Nebraska were the highest in 1959 since the company was organized in 1891, Dwight Perkins, president, reported at the annual meeting Wednesday.

Losses incurred exceeded $1,890,000, an increase of 33% over 1958, Perkins said. He reported that admitted assets of the company increased about 7% during the year to $7,584,000 representing a growth in assets of over 200% during the past 10 years.

Premium income of the company rose about 12% during 1959 to $3,069,000 and surplus for the protection of policyholders was $5,317,000, an increase of about 4½% over the previous year. Investment reserve to provide for fluctuation in value of securities was $335,000 at year-end, Perkins reported.

Storm Losses Up

Mrs. Helen C. Calcaterra, secretary, reported that the company's wind and hail losses increased by nearly 64% over 1958, as a result of severe wind and hail storms which repeatedly struck widely-separated areas in Nebraska during the summer of 1959 causing extensive damage to homes and farm buildings.

Farm fire losses also increased about 10% to a new high in 1959, she said.

Officers re-elected at the meeting were Mrs. Helen C. Calcaterra, secretary; Francis D. Straub, assistant secretary; Andrew C. Morton, vice president in charge of claims.

Other officers are Harold J. Requartte, chairman of the board; Dwight C. Perkins, president, and Jack M. Pace, general counsel.

Review Team Tour Of NU Campus Set

A review team of the Commission on Colleges and Universities of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools will visit the University of Nebraska Tuesday and Wednesday.

Members of the team include: Provost Harvey H. Davis of State University of Iowa; President George W. Starcher of University of North Dakota; and Dr. Daniel D. Feder, dean of student personnel at University of Denver.

BROCK BLASTS SCHMIT FOR FILING STATEMENT

Lincoln Star Special

Washington — Rep. Larry Brock said Wednesday that apparently his "prospective opponent," Loran Schmit of David City, "is not too familiar with legislative procedures when he declared my vote was cast against the Landrum-Griffin substitute."

Schmit, who filed Tuesday as a candidate on the Republican ticket for the 3rd District congressional post now held by Democrat Brock, said if he is nominated he would base his campaign against Brock on these two main issues:

"That the Democrats have done nothing to solve the farm problem except to complain and obstruct, and that the Democratic congressman in fact voted for organized labor leaders by originally opposing the Landrum-Griffin bill and then switching his vote to be on the winning side."

Brock answered that Schmit should secure a copy of the Congressional Record for August 13 and 14 last year, and that he would find therein "an absolute record of all votes as cast."

The 3rd District congressman cited the pages and votes showing that he supported the Landrum-Griffin bill throughout its floor tests.

"Would my prospective opponent state now that he would have voted differently on these 3 roll call votes?" Brock asked.

The Democratic congressman noted that some votes connected with the labor issue were amendments designed "to bring out the most equitable bill possible."

Voted For One

Brock said he voted for one of these, the Harris amendment, which would have exempted all railroad employes from coverage under the provision of the Landrum-Griffin substitute.

This teller vote, he said, was cast as the result of information he had received in committee which led a majority of the committee members and total House membership to believe railroad labor was adequately covered under existing law.

"It was in no wise a vote against the Landrum-Griffin substitute," Brock said.

On farm issues, Brock said, "As one of the spokesmen for the farmers of the midwest, and particularly those located in the 3rd Congressional District of Nebraska. I make no apology for my actions in Congress, and feel that the farmers in the 3rd District will support me wholeheartedly for re-election.

"Despite the many unfavorable reports which we receive from the Department of Agriculture, we are constantly striving to bring forth good, workable legislation which will alleviate the distress and economic plight of the farmer," Brock stated.

Oratorical Test Set For Sunday At Union College

Union College will present its annual oratorical program at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at the Union College gymnasium, 49th and Prescott.

Sponsored by the Union College Branch of the American Temperance Society, the speakers will be Noel Frasier, Eugene Hermanson, Stella Ramirez, William Nordgren and Lloyd Thompson.

Awards will be presented by the panel of 6 local judges.

Symington To Address Demo Meet

Lansing, Mich. (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo), potential Democratic presidential nominee, will address the Democratic Midwest Conference next month in Detroit, a party spokesman said here Wednesday.

Symington is the latest in a list of top party leaders to accept invitations to the March 25-27 parley. He will speak at an opening night dinner which will feature a farm policy address by Gov. Herschel Loveless of Iowa, chairman of the Democratic Advisory Committee on Agriculture.

Rep. Chester Bowles (D-Conn), onetime head of the office of Price Administration and former ambassador to India, also announced Wednesday he would attend. He will lead a foreign policy panel discussion March 26.

Former President Harry S. Truman tops a roster of several hundred Democrats expected at the conference, billed as the largest gathering of elected and party officials scheduled prior to the National Democratic Convention in Los Angeles in July.

Police Rout Heckling White, Negro Youths

Portsmouth, Va. (AP) — Racial tensions triggered by Negro efforts to gain admission to white lunch counters flared again Wednesday in demonstrations at a suburban shopping center and a colored high school.

Police broke up a crowd of more than 500 persons at the mid-city shopping center, scene of violence Tuesday. Soon after the milling, heckling crowd was dispersed, many of its Negro members walked to Norcum High School, about a quarter of a mile away.

About 200 Negroes assembled on the school athletic field, officers said. Several bricks were hurled at a police car.

In all, police arrested 27 youths about equally divided between both races. Twenty-five were charged with disorderly conduct and two with carrying concealed weapons.

Dogs Kept Handy

One motorcycle policeman collared a Negro boy after chasing him on his vehicle. K-9 police dogs helped keep the crowds in order.

Teachers, coaches and administrators of both white and Negro high schools were at the shopping center much of the afternoon, urging their students to break up and go home.

Capt. L. A. Broughton of the Portsmouth Police Dept. said there were no outbreaks of personal violence in either demonstration.

He estimated about 300 Negroes and 200 whites, mostly high school students, gathered at the shopping center shortly after 3 p.m. There were 40 police men on duty there at the time.

Stores Not Entered

No effort was made to gain access to any of the stores, but insults were hurled during a peaceful parade by Negro demonstrators.

The shopping center was the scene of a series of fights Tuesday after Negroes tried to obtain service at the lunch counter of a department store in the area. The lunch counter was closed Wednesday at 2:30 p.m.

Lunch counters at 3 downtown stores also were closed about 3 p.m. when managers said they were notified in advance Negroes would show up and demand service.

COMMITTEE TOURS HALLAM

Hubert's Scouts To Eye Nebraska

A two-man team representing Sen. Hubert Humphrey will scout Nebraska again this weekend with an eye toward Humphrey's prospects if he were to enter the May 10 Democratic presidential primary race.

The Humphrey duo will probably visit Omaha, Grand Island and North Platte, with a stopover in Lincoln.

It was believed Wednesday that Earl Larson and Pat O'Connor, both of Minneapolis, will compose the scouting team.

A final decision from Humphrey may be forthcoming next week. He has until March 11 to make up his mind.

Sen. John Kennedy has already announced he will enter the Nebraska race.

State Bank Resources Reach All-Time Peak

Total resources of Nebraska's state-chartered banks were at an all-time high of $556,718,211 at the end of 1959, E. N. Van Horne, director of banking, reported Wednesday.

There was a marked increase in loans and discounts over 1958, Van Horne said, which reflects an increased demand for funds which is largely attributable to the demands of agriculture.

All in all, the banks and other financial institutions operating under the supervision of the Department of Banking "are in strong financial position," Van Horne said. His report excluded the 123 national banks in the state as well as building and loan associations and credit unions which operate under federal charters.

The statement for Dec. 31, 1959, showed the resources of the 298 state banks were $8,877,729 more than at the same date in 1958. Total deposits were $497,497,569.

Loans and discounts increased even more than deposits, from $210,939,000 in 1958 to $228,667,000 on Dec. 31, 1959. It is this figure which reflects the demands of agriculture.

Loans to farmers increased $22,800,000 during the year to $123,000,000. These loans were in addition to $17,139,000 in loans directly guaranteed by the Commodity Credit Corporation, Van Horne said.

More Breakdown

A further breakdown showed that commercial and industrial loans increased $3,500,000 during 1959 to $27,100,000.

Single payment personal loans increased $700,000 to reach a total of $7,241,000, but all other loans in banks showed a decrease of $1,500,000 from the $3,200,000 to $1,700,000, the report said.

Van Horne stated that Nebraska banks have a larger percentage of capital structure to deposits than the average reported for all banks in the United States, and this factor showed a "health increase" for the past year from $49,426,000 to $53,134,000 or $3,708,000.

Due to the increased demand for loans, the investments of banks in government and municipal bonds declined $5,071,479 to $226,111,966.

The 37 state-charted building and loan associations held assets of $277,375,927, for an increase of $32,450,693. Total loans increased $32,000,000 to $215,000,000. Government bonds held totaled $43,355,000, an increase of $2,799,000.

Trust Companies

The 7 trust companies held $51,638,000 in assets, an increase of $5,938,000 for the year.

Credit unions increased from 74 to 81 during the year, and their total assets over 1958 increased $2,226,000 to $15,590,000. Loans by credit unions to members increased from $10,535,000 to $11,920,000.

There are 10 industrial loan and investment companies in Nebraska with total resources of $17,281,982. These companies also showed a "health growth" during the year, as the increase amounted to $1,089,485, Van Horne said.

More Bonds

Industrial loan and investment companies increased their loans to individuals $1,190,000 during the year and also increased their investment in United States government and other bonds $582,117. Capital accounts of these companies increased $354,601 during the year.

The 40 co-operative credit associations showed total resources of $7,650,874, a decrease of $208,028 for the year. Loans also declined from $2,513,000 to $2,435,000, a drop of $77,977.

Investments in U.S. government and other bonds by co-operative credit associations increased from $3,237,000 to $3,366,000 over 1958.

There are only 4 occupational co-operative credit associations in Nebraska, and their assets of $901,738 showed an increase of $77,460 for the year, Van Horne said.

Lipstick Shades 'More Toxic Than Poison To Rats'

Washington (AP) — Laboratory rats fed on a known poison got along better than some which were fed lipstick colors, a government expert testified Wednesday.

The Food and Drug Administration offered evidence to back up its lipstick dye tests as it opened public hearings to defend a ban on 14 coal tar colors. The effectiveness of the ban has been delayed pending outcome of the hearings.

The shades of red, orange and yellow, which lipstick makers say go into most lipsticks, were described as harmful to test rats.

Dr. O. Garth Fitzhugh, who heads FDA's toxicity branch and supervised tests of 9 specific coal tar colors, cited some comparison tests with known poisons.

He said carbolic acid was fed at levels of 1% for two years without any effect on test rats. In short experiments with 2% levels there was only a slight side effect on growth, he said.

Rats fed a coal tar color known as Red 19 at 2% levels died within 5 weeks, Fitzhugh testified.

Present law requires the FDA to ban a coal tar color if it causes even the slightest harm to laboratory animals.

Efficient Weed, Insect Control Measures Urged

Lincoln Star Special

Utica — The 165 persons attending the annual Seward County Irrigation Clinic at Utica Wednesday were told that if one wants to be successful with irrigation it is important to use efficient measures for weed and insect control.

Seward County showed an increase in wells drilled during 1959 and additional well drilling activity was reported by farmers at the clinic.

Directors re-elected to the Seward Co. Irrigators Assn. were: Cal Miller of Utica, Dale Sampson Jr. of Utica, and Norman Gerkensmeyer of Seward.

"We were very well pleased with the attendance and farmers considered it an exceptionally educational day," reported Seward County Extension Agent Loyd Young.

MCD Official To Lead Open-Occupancy Talks

By Virgil Falloon

Possible construction of low-cost, open-occupancy housing through private financing will be discussed next in a special meeting Monday with the City Council and other groups.

Mayor Pat Boyles said Morris Milgram of Modern Community Developers Inc. will meet with the council, the Mayor's Council on Human Relations, and other interested groups at 10 a.m. at City Hall.

Aided Big Cities

Boyles said MCD has arranged housing developments in New York City and Chicago through private financing and stock subscription.

The MCD representative is also scheduled to meet during the day with other community representatives, including real estate, financial, and other interests.

The Council on Human Relations, in connection with the Minority Housing Report, has recommended that low-cost housing for open-occupancy be investigated for the city.

The City Counncil has indicated that both public housing and privately-financed housing would be studied before any action is taken.

Several months ago, the council met with a Federal Housing Administration representative relative to the matter.

The City Hall will be closed Monday in observance of Washington's birthday, Mayor Boyles' office said the special meeting would be held in the council chamber.

Joint Rule In Congo

Brussels, Belgium (AP) — Congolese and Belgians will jointly govern the Congo until it achieves independence June 30, Belgian Congo Minister Auguste de Schrijver announced. He said from a date not yet set the Congo governor general will share his powers with a committee of Congolese, probably numbering 6 to 9. From June 30, executive power will pass to a Congolese government. A newly elected Congolese Parliament will then decide whether King Baudouin will remain as sovereign of the new state or will be replaced by an elected president.

3 Liquor License Hearings Slated

The State Liquor Control Commission has scheduled 3 hearings on appeals by individuals of denials of local governing bodies of their application for beer or liquor licenses.

Set for March 7 is a hearing for Hulda S. and Dean P. Kindler of Fremont who had their application for a retail package liquor license denied by the Fremont City Council.

An appeal by Orville E. Hess of Fort Crook who is seeking a beer license also will be heard March 7. The county denied it.

Auditorium Won't Have Singer Cole

San Francisco (UPI)—Pianist-singer Nat King Cole has been barred from appearing March 5 at Masonic Auditorium on Nob Hill.

"We just don't want the class of people Cole attracts," said auditorium manager Alvin A. Horwege.

Cole's manager, Carlos Gastel of Hollywood, replied ironically that the singer himself is a 32nd degree Mason. Cole currently is in Puerto Rico.

Lloyd Wilson, grand secretary of the California Lodge of Masons. said "We've had half a dozen Negro performers here and were very happy to have them. But other people in the general field of renting advised 'Don't have Nat King Cole.'

"We're not confronted with the problem, but if we were I wouldn't have Elvis Presley here either. We don't want people who jump on seats."

Wilson added "If Cole is a 32nd degree Mason, and I have no reason to doubt it, he then of necessity is a member of a Negro lodge."

Lincolnites Advised To Band Trees Against Worm Attack

Lincoln residents are being advised by City Forester Bryan Snell that their trees should be banded against the cankerworm's annual attack before early March.

In past years, banding of trees to control this pest has been a wide-spread practice in the city.

Snell recommends that the sticky material, which often contains toxic substances, should be applied to a band of tarred paper and cotton rather than directly to the bark of the tree.

"Many thin-barked trees and those that have been grooved to hold the sticky material are often harmed by toxic substances found in the preparation," he said.

Best Method

Snell recommended the following method for best results:

—Wrap a two inch cotton strip around the tree.

—Cut a strip of tarred paper 5 inches wide and draw it tightly around the tree, over the cotton strip and tack it down.

—Spread the sticky material over the tarred paper.

Climbs Tree

The egg-laying moth emerges wingless from its over-wintering quarters in the soil in early March. It climbs into trees and lays its eggs, which hatch in late April into larva which begin their destructive defoliation of the tree.

Banding of trees with a sticky material traps the wingless moth on its journey up the tree.

However, Snell pointed out the banding must be kept free from bridging material and all trees in the immediate vicinity should be treated because the moths and the worm can be windblown from unbanded to banded trees.

Injured Airman Said 'Satisfactory'

Loyola E. Ralston of the Lincoln Air Force Base was reported in satisfactory condition at a local hospital after he was injured early Wednesday morning in a car-truck accident on U.S. 6 near Waverly.

The Safety Patrol said Ralston, 22, suffered possible fractures of the ribs and thigh when his car and a semi-trailer truck driven by Willard A. Roscoe, 34, of Des Moines, Ia., were involved in a side-swipe accident.

KENNEDY EXPECTED TO ACCEPT PRIMARY PETITION IN PERSON

Sen. John Kennedy will fly to Lincoln within the next 3 weeks to officially accept the petition to place his name on Nebraska's May 10 Democratic presidential primary ballot.

That is the plan currently being formulated by the senator's Nebraska organization.

Kennedy announced Jan. 21 that he would enter the Cornhusker primary tussle, but "written acceptance" of the petition bid is required before the senator's name can appear on the ballot.

Deadline for the acceptance is March 11.

May Face Hubert

Kennedy's only possible opposition in the May battle is Sen. Hubert Humphrey whose supporters are still actively scouting the state for indications of his strength here.

Kennedy appearances in Omaha and Alliance are being arranged for this spring. A 3 or 4-day campaign over the state is possible in May prior to the primary.

Meanwhile, plans are underway for the youngest Kennedy brother—Ted—to meet with groups of Kennedy county chairmen within the next several weeks.

Brother Robert has previously visited in Lincoln and Omaha.

The senator has made appearances in Lincoln, Omaha, Fremont, Columbus, Hastings, Norfolk, Grand Island, Kearney, North Platte and Scottsbluff in the last 4 months.

He was last in Nebraska in January to announce his entry into the primary.

Missile Sites Building Progress On Schedule

Despite extremely difficult working conditions caused by nearly two months of stormy weather, construction at Lincoln's two Nike-Hercules missile sites is progressing nearly on schedule.

The Crete site 16 miles southwest of the Capital City is 40.5% completed, according to Maj. Lester J. Henderson, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers at Lincoln Air Force Base.

The Agnew site 15 miles north of Lincoln is 38% completed Maj. Henderson said Wednesday.

To Be Ready July 4

Both sites capable of launching the defensive weapons are scheduled for completion July 4.

The Nike-Hercules is a 5-ton, supersonic missile with a range of more than 75 miles. Each site will be capable of defending a 20,000 square mile area.

Interior construction on major buildings — including a mess hall, a 52-man barracks, a 38-man barracks and a battery headquarters — is well under way at both sites.

Half of the buildings are now roofed.

Plumbing work is also in progress at both sites.

Road Work May Start Soon

Road work construction will begin in March, weather permitting, Maj. Henderson said.

During the construction period, weather has been the major obstacle, the major noted. There have been no strike difficulties, and steel shortages caused only "a little bother."

Each site will contain 12 launcher pads to provide a protective air defense against attack from enemy aircraft.

The Crete site is located 6 miles east of Crete on State 33. The Agnew complex is being constructed 3½ miles east and one-half mile north of Agnew near the Saunders-Lancaster county line.

Chapel Ceremony Solemnized

Mrs. George Woods Haecker, Jr.

For the wedding of Miss Judith Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Adams, and George Woods Haecker, Jr., son of Mrs. George W. Haecker, and the late Mr. Haecker, took place in the chapel of First Presbyterian Church on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 17, the chancel was appointed in an all white motif. On either side of floral pyramids of white stock, white chrysanthemums and white gladioli, were lighted cathedral candles in seven-branched candelabra. Cathedral candles also marked the outer aisles of the chapel. Dr. C. Vin White solemnized the 4 o'clock service, and the wedding music was played by Miss Grace Finch.

Miss Kathy Adams, as her sister's maid of honor, appeared in a costume of white chiffon. The frock, in daytime length, was patterned with a floral motif in pastel tones, and at the waist was a narrow belt in the powder blue shade. The blue was repeated in the small crown which held to the head her brief, circular veil and she carried a modern colonial bouquet of white carnations, touched with blue and swagged with ivy strands. Miss Debbie Haecker, sister of the bridegroom and the junior bridesmaid, wore white silk organza. The frock, designed with puffed sleeves and a rounded neckline framed with an applique of flowers, and a full skirt in daytime length, was sashed in at the waist, and bowed in the back. She wore a hair bandeau, and her bouquet was a small modern colonial of carnations and ivy strands.

Foster (Woody) Haecker served his brother as best man, and seating the guests were Don Campbell, Jack Neely, Glenn Speece and Jim Sheldon.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of lace over taffeta in the princess mode. The bodice was fashioned with bracelet-length sleeves and a portrait neckline, and the skirt was ballerina length. A jeweled crown held in place her waist-length veil, and she carried a modern colonial bouquet of white hyacinths and white stock.

Following the reception, held in the church parlors, Mr. Haecker and his bride left for Honolulu where they will reside and where Mr. Haecker will be associated with a firm of architects.

The bride attended the University of Nebraska, where she is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, and the University of Arizona. Mr. Haecker also is a former student at Nebraska and is a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

The Star In Suburbia

EASTBOROUGH

Would like to extend a welcome this morning to new residents of Eastborough—namely, Capt. and Mrs. Robert J. McKee who have just returned to the States from Madrid, Spain, where Capt. McKee served a three-year tour of duty at Torrenjon Air Force Base. He is now a member of the 98th bomb squadron at the LAFB.

Younger members of the McKee family include Robert, Mike and Molly. The McKees moved into their home at 611 No. 70th the latter part of January.

Newcomers in the suburb are Mr. and Mrs. Dale Meiner who moved to Lincoln from their former home in Hastings three weeks ago. The couple has three children, Cynthia and Candyce, both of whom attend Meadow Lane School, and Randall.

The family's new address is 235 West Rio Rd.

Last Friday morning Mrs. Meiner was the honoree at a get-acquainted coffee given by Mrs. Dean Hutchins. Nine neighbors were invited to the Hutchins home for the informal affair.

Mention of Mrs. Hutchins reminds us that today she, her husband and children, Leslie, Dean and Tracy, will be leaving Lincoln to make their new home in Sioux City, Ia.

On Wednesday, Feb. 17, Mrs. Don Mitchell entertained in farewell courtesy to Mrs. Hutchins, and 10 guests were present for the morning coffee.

BETHANY PARK

A new arrival in the younger set is Miss Jeanne Margaret Kelley, who put in her premier appearance at Bryan Memorial Hospital on Friday, Feb. 5. The young lady's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George W. Kelley Jr., and she has a brother, Jim, and sister, Kathy.

PARK VALLEY HEIGHTS

A coffee hostess on Tuesday, Feb. 16, was Mrs. John Laux. Seven neighborhood friends were present for the morning affair.

On Tuesday evening, Feb. 9, Mrs. Jack Herbert entertained the members of her Canasta Club at a card party and dessert supper. A guest of the group was Mrs. Marion Mendlik.

PTA Gives Awards

The program also included a talk by Dr. Charles Colman, chairman of the department of Romance languages at the University of Nebraska.

Family Features

DEAR ABBY

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am so heartsick over what has happened to me I don't know what to do. All my friends at school (I am a sophomore in high) are telling me there is a terrible rumor going around about me. But no one will tell me what it is or who said it. How can I get to the bottom of it? Everyone says they are sworn to secrecy. What does a girl do when she has done nothing wrong but gets a bad reputation anyway?

WORRIED SICK

DEAR WORRIED: People who tell you "there is a terrible rumor going around about you", but refuse to reveal what it is or who said it are not friends. Ignore the talk and hold your head high. As long as you continue to behave properly, those who took part in circulating the gossip will appear foolish.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: Have you ever heard of a wedding shower for a MAN? Well, I have just been invited to one. (I am a woman.) This fellow in our office is getting married and someone in the office dreamed up the idea of giving him a shower. They told us not to spend too much money, but to bring something sort of cute and suggestive. What should I take?

GIRL FRIDAY

DEAR GIRL: Keep it clean and bring a bar of soap.

☆ ☆ ☆

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ENVIOUS": Don't envy her. You'd look "electrifying" too, if everything you had on was charged.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply enclose a self-addressed envelope.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 NT	Pass	4 ♥	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead—ten of clubs.

This hand comes from a team of four match. At the first table, North-South were using the weak notrump (12 to 14 points) and they promptly got to four hearts.

West led a club and declarer won in dummy with the king. After cashing the A-K of hearts, declarer led a spade towards dummy. West made the natural play of a low spade and the queen lost to the king. (West could have defeated the contract by going up with the ace of spades and leading a diamond.)

East returned a spade which South ruffed. Declarer's imaginative play now paid off when he cashed the A-Q of clubs, ending in dummy, and discovered the 4-2 club break. The contract was now sure to make.

He led the eight of clubs, and when East played the jack, declarer discarded a diamond. East was on lead and was helpless. He had won two tricks already, but all he could do now was win one more with the ace of diamonds.

If he led a spade instead of a diamond, South would discard a diamond while ruffed the spade. So declarer made four hearts for a score of 620 points as a result of the loser on loser play.

At the second table, North opened the bidding with a club. East passed, South bid a heart, and West said a spade. After two hearts by North, East jumped to four spades, and that became the final contract.

There was nothing to the play. West wound up losing a heart and two clubs. The diamond finesse worked, the spades turned out to be solid, and West made ten tricks for a score of 420 points.

So the net result was that the same team made a vulnerable game with the North-South cards at one table and a non-vulnerable game with the East-West cards at the other table.

Picking up 1,040 points in one deal ain't hay. Such scores usually win team matches. And for those who care, money, too.

Birthday

One of the festive events of the past week end was the eighth birthday anniversary of Julie Chambers, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. James D. Chambers, on Saturday, Feb. 13. In celebration of her anniversary the celebrant entertained the feminine members of her second grade class at Pershing School at a 2 o'clock until 5 o'clock party which began with refreshments at home. The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to roller skating.

The guest list included Vicki Valles, Jayne Sommers, Cheryl Kirby, Nancy Mercer, Evelyn Hawkins, Karen Roesler, Peggy Barnhill, Terri Hinkle, Mary Hudziki and Vicki Staberg all classmates — and her three cousins Joni Lydick, and twins Bill and Bob Lydick, of Omaha.

Food And Fashion

Swimsuits of the new decade will be barely there, according to the prophecy of a leading swimsuit manufacturer.

The rash of private swimming pools throughout the country has brought about a bikini boom, say the designers. Even a modest girl doesn't mind bare minimums in the privacy of her own back yard.

A highlight is the "after dive" group of evening swimsuits—that's right. A new facet of the American social scene is: "Come over for supper and a swim." And the correct outfit for it is a figure-molding black stretch nylon swimsuit with sheer black yoke and a sheer nylon tricot skirt which goes to dinner, comes off for the swim.

You could hear the wails all the way to Malibu.

"I don't think any of the girls are going to go for it," said buxom Janet Leigh. "I'm going to keep on wearing the styles I like."

The House of Dior's new lines are flat as a pancake above the waist in daytime styles. They are the work of Dior's heir, young Yves St. Laurent.

The bust isn't the only thing St. Laurent's new styles hide. They also erased the waist and hips, and bear resemblance to the late unlamented sacks of two years ago.

"As far as I'm concerned," said Janis Paige, "Saks is a department store in New York."

Kim Novak commented: "I prefer the simple things. The ones that follow the natural lines—that follow the curves nature gave us. I'll stick to nature instead of Dior."

3 Clubs Playing In Cotton Bowl

Dallas, Tex. (AP)—The competition may be rough for Dallas' 3 major football teams—the Texans, the Rangers and Southern Methodist—but it's just money in the bank for the Cotton Bowl.

This stretch of gridiron turf will be one of the busiest fields in the country what with SMU playing its home games there and National Football League and American Football League Dallas teams playing on alternate Sundays.

Jimmy Stewart, general manager of the State Fair of Texas, which owns and operates the bowl, said "it's fine with me if they all do well" and he thinks they will.

He pointed out that in 1950 about 150,000 fans poured into the 75,000-seat bowl to watch Texas play Oklahoma in the afternoon and SMU battle Oklahoma A&M at night. The fans laid down about $675,000 to see the contests.

The State Fair gets 15 per cent of the gross.

Lamar Hunt, owner of the Texans in the newly-formed AFL, says Dallas is a one-team market, meaning there was no room here for the Rangers of the NFL. But Ranger owners say there are enough fans with enough money to keep both teams going.

Stewart says pro games will be played Sunday and college games will be played on Saturday.

SMU plays 4 home games. Then there are the two big college games of the year in Dallas, the New Year's Day classic and the Texas-Oklahoma game.

The Texans have 7 league games scheduled and one exhibition game while the Rangers have 6 league contests on tap but no exhibition games set.

From all those games the State Fair should get about $350,000.

He points out that when the Dallas Texans of the NFL played here in 1952 they started out by drawing 22,000 to 25,000 fans a game. They left the city in the middle of their first season when crowds dropped to about 10,000 as they started losing.

"The two pro teams have a better chance of making it now than the one team had then," Stewart says.

WESIERSKI HOT WITH 257 GAME

Mrs. Bridget Wesierski forgot about averages while posting high women's game of the year at Hollywood Bowl Wednesday night.

The diminutive gal kegler opened with 5 strikes, recorded two spares, strung 3 more strkes and spared out for a 257 effort.

She didn't cool off much while chalking up a 191 mark in her second game and a 152 while closing out. It gave her a 600 series for King's Fine Food in the Hollywood Star League.

Mrs. Wesierski, who sports a 157 average in the league, had previously never gone over a 201 game nor a 526 series.

Opening Ceremonies Due To Drown Squabbles, Expected Financial Loss

Squaw Valley, Calif. (AP) — The theat of a snow storm and grumbling over the condition of the ice rinks Wednesday night cast a shadow on the opening of the Winter Olympic Games today.

Up to 6 inches of snow was forecast, which would mean the ski slopes would need packing before competition could start Friday.

The bickering was more acrimonious than is usual at these international festivals designed to promote sportsmanship and good will.

Despite snow, slush or slurs, however, plans for the opening went forward.

Vice President Nixon will speak the few prescribed words that will set in motion the Games that have brought 740 athletes from 30 nations to this 6,000-foot high valley in the Sierras.

He comes 3,000 miles from Washington for the 15-word speech:

"I now declare open the Olympic Games at Squaw Valley celebrating the 8th Winter Olympics."

Opening ceremonies for the 20-million-dollar games, following tradition, include a choir of 2,645 and the lighting of the big Olympic torch that burns throughout the games.

The flame will be skiied down little Papoose Peak by Mrs. Andrea Mead Lawrence, former U.S. gold medal winner now an assistant coach for the women's team.

Beneath the brilliant ceremony, with its emphasis on peace and sportsmanship, there seethes the inevitable Olympic squabbles.

The East Germans and the West Germans aren't getting along. Nobody likes the main hockey rink with bits of debris frozen into the ice and an exposed end that gets mushy in bright sunlight.

The athletes don't want to be quartered 4 to a room. One man Olympic teams from India and Nationalist China have been shouldered out of the games. The hockey federation wants 11 days of competition but has settled for 10.

There already have been 14 training accidents. Two skiers, Luis Molne of Spain and Battista Pordon of Italy, have broken legs.

After a display of fireworks, the flags of the competing nations will be raised as the band plays "The Parade of the Olympians." In will march the athletes, led, traditionally, by the Greek flag, although Greece is not one of the competing nations. The U.S. contingent, as host, will be last.

Following the presentation of the Winter Games flag by a representative of Cortina D'Ampezzo, Italy, site of the last Winter Olympics, 2,000 pigeons, "doves of peace" will be released. Then comes the lighting of the torch, the Olympic prayer and the singing of "God of Our Fathers".

CHINA SKI TEAM OUT FOR GOOD

Squaw Valley, Calif. (AP)—Nationalist China's one-man ski team will not be allowed to compete in the Winter Olympics opening today.

The case was closed Wednesday by Marc Holder, president of the International Ski Federation (FIS). It was a case, he said, of insufficient credentials.

Holder, from Bern, Switzerland, earlier said that India's one-man ski team could not compete, but left the Chinese question somewhat up in the air.

At the news conference Holder said special permission to compete could not be granted to either because necessary documents had not been submitted.

Lincoln Star Special

The 6-4 transfer from St. Louis University ran 12 of his 49 points in early stages of the second half while leading his teammates to a 75-69 verdict over Dana.

They upped the ante to 40-33 with 3 minutes gone in the final stanza before Velloff's spree developed.

Stitch Stops Smith In 3rd

Louisville, Ky. (AP)—Rudell Stitch scored a 3rd round technical knockout over Charlie (Tombstone) Smith in their welterweight fight before 2,500 fans Wednesday night at Freedom Hall.

Stitch, fighting before a hometown crowd, was bearing in consistently and boxing sharply against his opponent and easily took the 3 rounds.

Smith was shaken several times although there were no knockdowns.

It was the first fight for Stitch since last November when he beat middleweight Holly Mims. Stitch is ranked No. 2 among welters.

Mutt And Jeff Combo Clicks

. . . McCOOK 2ND NU VICTIM

By Paul LeBar

Chet Paul and Sammy Kreigh—a Mutt and Jeff combo—led Nebraska's Freshmen to a 61-52 win over McCook Junior College Wednesday night.

Tall Paul, 6-5 all-stater from Lincoln High, combed the nets for 21 points.

Kreigh, 5-8 playmaker from Zanesville, Ind., chipped in 18 as Coach Tony Sharpe's yearlings trailed only once.

That was at 2-3 after 3:13. The neophytes bottled up McCook's attack as Paul took charge.

4 Straight

The 210-pounder converted 4 straight from the floor while Nebraska manufactured a 14-8 command.

Larry Schlem and Marv Teel of the invaders countered the surge, but Tom Ernst, Dick Muma and Paul teamed to open a 28-19 gap with 4½ minutes to go in the half.

Can't Catch NU

McCook—despite hot spells by Vernon Franke, Teel and Burdette Malleck—never quite caught up.

The Indians' best was at 48-45 midway through the canto before Kreigh and Paul went to work again.

Nebraska shot 42.5 per cent while picking up its second win of the season. The mark was 50 per cent in the first half as Paul rang up 14 counters.

20% Half

McCook, on the tail end of a two-day road sojourn, found the range for only 20 per cent in the opening stanza and wound up at 26.7 for the night.

Muma trailed Paul and Kreigh in the scoring with 13. Malleck and Teel paced McCook with 14 and 11 respectively.

KEEPING SCORE

With Al Beebe

Star Sports Staff Writer

Vincent Not Only 'Big Man'

While Omaha South's Bill "Stretch" Vincent has been drawing most of the raves this season, he is not the only "big man" gracing Nebraska prep rosters.

Vincent is listed at 6-8. But 6-7 stars include Ralston's Ed Woodward, Jim Villwock of Papillion, and Gene Coleman of David City St. Mary's.

Woodward and Villwock, the ex-Lincoln High cager, both earned all-star honors in the Eastern Nebraska Conference tourney. Coleman has been improving, and in recent games has consistently been high scorer for the Class C leaders.

More Teams To Watch

There are plenty of teams to watch come tourney time.

In Class A, for instance, South Sioux City may surprise. The South Soo squad draws Grand Island in its district pairing at Grand Island, a tough opening assignment. But the team holds a narrow win over Norfolk, also in the district. After losing 5 of the first 6, South Sioux City has gone 7-2 since then.

Tourney veteran Alma is again a Class C threat. Harry Dowell's club slipped once against Class D Hildreth and again at Logan, Kan., but has compiled an impressive 15 wins.

Fullerton, Wymore, Tilden, Spalding Academy are among C schools which have been impressive, but not in the ratings.

D ranks are loaded with strong candidates. These include Clatonia, the 1958 champion. With a new coach in Don Clark, the Cardinals have racked up a 14-2 season mark.

Wilsonville and Prague, both in the Class E state tourney last year, may also surprise. Prague is 16-3, Wilsonville 15-2 with tall Bill Holliday averaging around 35 points per game.

Last year's E champ, Tobias, has had rough sledding, with a 5-8 record. But they've won the last 3 in a row, and may be a comer. York St. Joe, now 14-1, is still another definite D possibility.

Refs Are Human

For some 4 minutes in the second half, the refs acted as though their tongues were stuck in their whistles. Many obvious traveling violations, fouls, etc. occurred without a single toot.

Without a whistle, play got ragged and rough, with both teams performing terribly. The rest of the game, the officials did an acceptable job, and the play was creditable.

Goes to show what would happen if there were no officials.

—$5,000 CUT REPORTED—

Redhead, Braves Agree On Salary

Milwaukee (AP)—Red Schoendienst, ready to fight a comeback battle for his old job at second base, Wednesday agreed to terms with the Milwaukee Braves.

No terms were announced by the Braves' office after officials talked with Schoendienst on the telephone from his St. Louis home. It was reported, however, he agreed to accept less than $30,000, at least a $5,000 slash from his salary for 1958, his last full season.

Schoendienst discovered, shortly after the 1958 World Series, that he had tuberculosis. After hospital treatment and major surgery he went home last March for a slow recuperation. Last September he made his first 1959 appearance in a Braves' uniform as a pinch hitter and received a standing ovation from the fans.

Despite his uphill battle from this serious illness, the old Redhead has insisted he will be back at second base for the Braves this season.

Earlier he said he had sent the following message for Chuck Dressen, the Braves' new manager:

"This is the biggest challenge I've had since my rookie year. In fact, it's like being a rookie all over again. And I'm going to work as hard as any rookie in spring training."

Rodriguez KO Victim In Chicago

Chicago (AP)—Henry Hank of Detroit, No. 3 middleweight contender, garnered his 6th straight victory and 29th knockout by stopping Sixto (Kid) Rodriguez in the 6th of a scheduled 10-rounder Wednesday night.

Rodriguez, ranked No. 4 light heavy by the National Boxing Assn., was a hit-and-hold fighter in the televised bout.

From the start it was only a question of time it would take for Hank, 24-year-old former Detroit zoo keeper, to penetrate the Puerto Rican's ranginess.

It came at 2:41 of the 6th after Rodriguez, California state champion from Mountain View, had been rocked in every round.

Another left to the face nearly sent him sprawling. Hank moved in with chopping lefts and rights, and referee Bernard Weissman stepped in to halt it.

Rodriguez still wanted to continue, trying to escape Weissman's cluthes. He was not considered able to defend himself.

WEST SECOND BEST; MOUNTAINEERS FALL

Washington (AP) — Little Jon Feldman poured in 42 points Wednesday night, most of them on long jump shots, as George Washington handed 5th ranked West Virginia its 4th defeat by 97-93.

Jerry West hit 40 for West Virginia, but the 5-9 Feldman took over for points when it counted. West played the second half with a broken nose.

In the closing minutes, West Virginia went almost 4 minutes without scoring as the Colonials came from an 89-81 deficit to pull ahead by 92-89.

West Virginia now has a 20-4 mark for the year and is 9-2 in the Southern Conference. George Washington has a 15-8 record with 7-5 in conference play.

The GW players rode Feldman off the court on their shoulders as the capacity crowd of 6,400 roared its approval.

NebraskaBowlers Host Kansas State

Teams from the two campuses meet at 9:30 a.m., doubles and singles following at 1 and 2 p.m. respectively.

—ARCHIE CAN PICK TERMS—

Young Von Clay Wants Title Shot

Philadelphia (AP)—Archie Moore can name his own terms if he will defend his light heavyweight title against young Von Clay of Philadelphia, Clay's manager said here Wednesday.

Tony Graziano, 38-year-old manager of Clay, lightweight sensation Len Matthews and heavyweight prospect Don Warner, spoke after learning Moore was interested in a Clay bout offered by Madison Square Garden officials.

Harry Markson, Garden boxing director, said Moore and his manager, Jack Kearns, have shown definite interest in Clay as an opponent for the seemingless ageless champion. Clay is ranked No. 5 among light heavyweights by the National Boxing Association.

Asked if the 20-year-old Clay, who has had only 13 pro fights, winning 11 and drawing the other two, wouldn't be a lamb led to slaughter against the veteran Moore, Graziano said:

"Absolutely not. Moore is 46 years old or close to it. His reflexes are gone. Clay would knock him out. Moore is only a shell of the great fighter he once was.

"If this was 4 or 5 years ago I wouldn't think of exposing Clay to Moore. Now, it's different. Moore has nothing but his name and his title. We welcome the opportunity to fight him."

As a Hot Stove League Umpire— YOU CALL IT!

Third of a series

By Ben Olan

Managers have so many things to think about during a game they sometimes forget the simplest of rules . . . such as notifying the umpire of a player change.

Al Lopez, alert manager of the White Sox, rushes up and protests to the umpire, claiming that the pinch hitter should be declared out because the umpire was not notified of the substitution.

Do you think that:

a. Valo is out?

b. Valo should be made to bat again after official notification of his entrance into the game?

c. Valo's home run should count?

Answer: c—Valo's home run counts. A substitute batter who is not announced becomes a legal substitution the moment he takes his place in the batter's box. Failure of the manager to notify the umpire of the change subjects the manager to a $25 fine.

HAWKS CLINCH TIE FOR WESTERN TITLE

Philadelphia (AP) — The St. Louis Hawks Wednesday night clinched at least a tie for first place in the Western Division of the National Basketball Assn. by defeating Minneapolis 131-127 behind Cliff Hagan's 44 points.

In the nightcap of the Convention Hall doubleheader, the Philadelphia Warriors, led by Wilt Chamberlain's 33 points and Paul Arizin's 26, kept alive their slight hopes for the eastern division championship by beating Syracuse 123-116.

The Warriors trail Boston by 7½ games. The victory hiked the Warriors' second place lead over the Nats to 6 games.

Philadelphia was never in trouble and coasted to victory. At one point late in the third quarter the warriors were ahead by 35 points at 104-69.

Villanova Upset

Philadelphia (AP) — St. Bonaventure won its 11th in a row by upsetting Villanova 72-70 Wednesday night on sub Bill Connery's driving layup with 9 seconds left in the battle between two NIT-bound teams.

The Bonnies now are 14-3 and 9th-ranked Villanova 17-3 with its second straight defeat.

Pressure Of NCC Race Gnawing Sports Scribe

By Paul LeBar

"It's no secret that the NCC coaches would like to see Wesleyan break Midland's home court record which is unblemished.

"Hastings College athletic director Tom McLaughlin appears to be a guy who can dish out the lumps but can't take them . . .

McLaughlin

"Fremont cage fans were bored stiff with the Bronco style of play and could barely keep from falling asleep much less engage in something so strenuous as fisticuffs."

State College Corral

In the 15 years of Christian's operation, Fricke reports, the school has fielded cage teams for 10 years and made steady progress.

Lack of converence affiliation has been an obstacle, he feels . . . He'd like to see the Norfolk club team up with Grace Bible Institute and Baptist Bible Institute of Omaha and Manhattan Bible College of Kansas.

Rickey Set For Assist At Houston

Houston, Tex. (AP)—President Branch Rickey and Continental League franchise holders begin a two-day study of Houston's confusing baseball situation today.

Officials of the new league also will hold one and possibly two closed-door business sessions of their own prior to departing Friday night.

He's to make another plea for county officials to proceed rapidly with construction plans for an authorized sports center with facilities suitable for major league baseball and professional football.

Short Iron Shooters Favorites At Tucson

That's the opinion of E. J. "Dutch" Harrison, host pro who knows the revamped, flat 6,434-yard El Rio Country Club course as well as anyone.

"Fellows like Art Wall, Doug Ford and Jerry Barber are going to be tough," he said.

Those that can add good putting to accurate irons should have a field day in the 72-hole event that ends Sunday. The pros feel anyone can rap out long drives on these wide, uncomplicated fairways.

"We'll hardly miss them," director Ricki Rarick insisted. "We have the 3 big champs, Bob Rosburg (PGA), Billy Casper, (U.S. Open), and Art Wall Jr. (Masters).

POLICIES FOR NAIA OUTLINED

Indiana, Pa. (AP)—A broadening and defining of athletic policies may be the outcome of a pilot workshop conducted by the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics.

1. Intercollegiate athletics should be an integral part of education experience of students.
2. The intercollegiate athletic budget should be a part of the general college budget.
3. Student grants and recruitment of athletes is both tactful and essential.
4. Members of the athletic staffs should have persons qualified similar to the other members of the faculty.
5. Salaries of athletic staff members and tenure practices should be the same as other members of the faculty.

A. O. Duer, executive secretary of the NAIA, said he would present the resolutions at a meeting of 31 other districts at Kansas City March 7-12.

Jr. Loop Arbiters Convene March 7

Boston (AP) — American League President Joe Cronin Wednesday called a meeting of the AL's umpiring staff March 7 and 8 at Cherry Plaza Hotel, Orlando, Fla.

It will be Cronin's first meeting with the full staff of 18 arbiters. He met with them in groups last season.

Cronin said the meeting is a regular annual session and only routine matters are on the agenda.

Loes Is Just Rolling Along With The Tide

New York (AP)—Billy Loes has been called eccentric and tempermental, among other things, since joining Brooklyn in 1952. Sore arm and all, the 30-year-old right-hander next week reports to the San Francisco Giants, who obtained him from Baltimore in an inter-league trade.

How does Billy feel about moving from a second division club in the American League to a pennant contender in the National?

"When it comes to baseball I have no feelings," he says. "If I can get the hitters out, okay. If not, to heck with it.

"I don't know what the Giants intend to use me for, probably to relieve in the last inning or two. The arm feels about the same it has the last few years.

Baltimore traded Loes to Washington last spring but the deal was nullified when the Senators discovered the pitcher's arm troubles.

He had a 4-7 record last season, then went to the Giants along with southpaw pitcher Billy O'Dell in a 5-player deal.

"The Giants got one good pitcher," Loes said. "That O'Dell will really help the club. He's a strong kid and he's hungry. He's got drive and he wants to make more money. Me, I just go along with the tide."

Loes figures he's going to have to work harder with the Giants than in the American League.

"There are more power hitters in the National," he said, "and those ball parks are a lot shorter."

Ex-Cyclone Guide Rejoins Pro Club

Chicago (AP) — Abe Stuber, Chicago Cardinals assistant coach in 1958, has returned to the National Football League club as director of talent scouting.

Report Urges State Park System Plan

Omaha (AP) — Nebraska needs a comprehensive system of parks and recreation areas preserving outstanding scenic, scientific and historical values, the National Park Service says.

That was the board recommendation for the state contained in a special report on recreation in the Missouri Basin, prepared jointly by the park service and the Missouri Basin Inter-Agency Committee.

The report noted that historically Nebraska is noted for both the Oregon and Mormon trails, travel up and down the Missouri and the fur trade.

State Famous

It added that the state has special considerations which must be served in developing a comprehensive plan.

These include lack of tree cover around its reservoirs in hot summer weather, concentration of population in the eastern part of the state where natural surroundings are not readily adapted to large scale diversified types of recreation for frequent day and weekend use, the fact reservoir projects may encroach on some unspoiled areas of significance such as in the Niobrara Basin, the tendency to force development where the reservoirs are located than where facilities are more urgently needed and the need to bring vacation development within reasonable reach of metropolitan populations.

Needs In East

The report said that aside from preserving significant areas, the major need lies in the east and southeast sections of the state, with a smaller area of need in the west.

The report made these general recommendations for furthering development of a state park system:

Development of a detailed state plan to serve as a guide or master plan.

Evaluation of the present system to determine the importance of existing areas in the state plan.

Distribution

Scenic or natural—Pine Ridge, near Chadron and Fort Robinson; Niobrara valley, in conjunction with proposed Meadville Reservoir or Long Pine valley; Lewis and Clark Lake; Missouri Bluffs, preferably in southeast Nebraska; Wildcat Hills, expansion; Prairie Island in the Platte River; and the lakes and grass lands of the Sand Hills in combination with the preservation of the prairie chicken.

Historic—Ash Hollow Battlefield; James C. Mitchell House, Omaha; Scout's Rest, North Platte; Fort Hartsuff near Ord; Fort Atkinson; selected Oregon Trail sites; selected Lewis and Clark sites.

Areas to meet needs—existing reservoirs of Minatare and Lewis and Clark Lake; the proposed Sherman, Merritt, Red Willow, O'Neill, Loretto and Angus reservoirs; Missouri River potential and the sandpit area west of Omaha.

It also recommended for the benefit of tourists and resident travelers a planned system of roadside areas along major travel routes; designation and protection of pleasure drives and tour ways; and a planned system of historical markers, combined where practical, with roadside areas and designated tourways.

Omaha Airport Authority Joins Frontier Protest

Omaha (AP) — The Omaha Airport Authority has decided to join in protests against the application of Frontier Airlines to drop its northern Nebraska route.

The decision follows, Airport Director Richard E. Mooney said, a "gradual decline on the quality of service provided by Frontier."

Mooney said that if Frontier should, as has been reported in some quarters, also move to drop its southern Nebraska route the authority will voice a protest.

Madness Called Mardi Gras Takes New Orleans In Grip

New Orleans (UPI) — The madness called Mardi Gras has New Orleans in its grip again, and stores along famed Canal Street are boarding up their windows in expectation of the million tourists who will jam the city.

It happens every year, but New Orleans natives get just as happy about it as the tourists.

In fact, the natives may even be a little happier. They don't have to pay for hotel accommodations. Hotel and motel rates shoot up double or higher, and rooms must be taken for 4 days.

Tourists who flock to the storied French Quarter appear carried away with the Mardi Gras spirit to squawk too much when served watered-down drinks that cost as much as $5 a shot.

Police, doing their best to avert the monumental traffic jams of the holiday, plead with residents to leave their cars at home and use buses and trolleys. The downtown stores, boarding up their display windows, still expect great sales days.

"We board up our windows for Mardi Gras and hurricanes," a department store executive said.

'Lodge Politics' Blamed In Ouster Of Detroit Shriner

Detroit (UPI) — "Lodge politics" were blamed Wednesday for the ouster of a 3rd top-ranking officer of the Mystic Shrine of the Moslem Temple here.

Chester E. Cox, 67, Dearborn, Mich., was the 3rd leading Masonic Lodge member to be kicked out in recent weeks. He was elected only a month ago to the $7,500 a year job of recorder.

Imperial Potentate Clayton F. Andrews of Lincoln, Neb., the number one Shriner, ordered Cox removed from office. Cox' dismissal apparently resulted from his defense of J. Murray Brown, Chief Rabban, and Herbert E. Payne, Jr., local Potentate, both suspended earlier by Andrews.

Walter W. Fuller, fraternal editor of the Detroit News, was ordered Tuesday by Andrews to show cause why he should not be kicked out of the organization for reporting the removal of the Detroit officers.

Financier Guterma Sentenced, Called 'Freebooter' By Judge

New York (AP) — Mystery financier Alexander L. Guterma has been sentenced to 4 years and 11 months in prison and fined $160,000 by a judge who called him a freebooting raider on the economic seas.

U.S. Dist. Judge Lloyd F. MacMahon also sentenced a Guterma associate, Robert J. Eveleigh, to 2 years and 11 months and fined him $10,000.

Then MacMahon denied them bail pending appeal, lest they acquire an airplane and fly to some Latin American country where they would not be subject to extradition.

He said Guterma's recent change of residence from Greenwich, Conn., to Miami Shores, Fla., was "a likely first step toward flight."

Guterma and Eveleigh were convicted Jan. 27 of conspiracy to defraud the United States and failing to file financial reports of the F. L. Jacobs Co., a holding firm formerly headed by Guterma.

Two defendant firms with which Guterma and Eveleigh were associated, Comficor, Inc., and Chatham Corp., were fined $120,000 and $10,000 respectively.

The judge said Guterma from 1956 to 1958 looted the investing public of hundreds of thousands of dollars by manipulating Jacobs common stock and by siphoning off hundreds of thousands of dollars of Jacobs assets into his own pockets through dummy corporations.

Guterma, 44, is a naturalized American citizen who says he was born in Siberia. Eveleigh, 56, is a British subject.

Firm Drained Dry

Asst. U.S. Atty. Jerome J. Londin said the Jacobs company was literally stripped of all its assets through involved financial machinations by the defendants.

"I did not loot the Jacobs company," Guterma told the court prior to sentencing. "I did not bilk its assets.

"I find myself as a mariner befogged in a sea of federal regulations. I have no money at all and I lost my entire fortune in the Jacobs company."

Londin, picking up the nautical reference, said:

"If this mariner sails in any fog he is the one who created the fog to escape detection."

MacMahon, in imposing sentence, said:

"Guterma was not lost in a fog of governmental regulations but, rather, was a freebooter who raided the seas of a free economy."

Red Progress May Create 'Electric Power Gap' Here

. . . McGINLEY GIVES WARNING

Lincoln Star Special

Washington — Russian and Red Chinese progress in the development of hydro-electric plants "foretells the day when we will be faced with an 'electric power gap,'" Rep. Don McGinley said Wednesday.

The Ogallala Democrat said the possible result of such a development is that Russia and China "will be able to out-produce us in many fields, and thus insure success in the coming economic war."

McGinley noted that Russian Premier Khrushchev has promised that "we will bury you in economics, manufacturing and trade."

At the present time, the U.S. has an annual output of about 150 million kilowatts as compared with 50 million by the Russians, McGinley said.

Equal In '75

The USSR claims it will equal our output by 1975, he said.

One power plant now under construction at Lake Baikal near the Caucasian Mountains will have an output of 4.5 million kilowatts—compared with 1.9 million kilowatts generated by Grand Coulee Dam, our largest power plant.

There are 255 power dams under construction in China, McGinley pointed out. One dam and power plant alone will produce at the start 25 million kilowatts. Ultimately, it will produce 40 million kilowatts.

Additionally, McGinley noted, Russia is producing and selling power equipment to 60 other nations.

Filings For Unicam Spots In Upswing

The volume of filings continued its upswing in the Secretary of State's office Wednesday with 3 candidates seeking nomination to the Legislature in the May 10 primary, and 3 seeking election as delegates to the Democratic national convention.

Marvin E. Stromer, Lincoln businessman, has filed as a candidate for the Legislature in the 19th District now represented by Sen. Stan Portsche. Portsche has not yet announced whether he will seek re-election.

Romans Files

Sen. Jack Romans of Ord filed for re-election to the Legislature from the 29th District.

Harry A. Foster of Omaha filed as a candidate for the Legislature from the 5th District now represented by Sen. John Adams.

P. J. Heaton Sr. of Sidney filed as a delegate to the Demo convention from the 4th Congressional District, and Harry F. Carlson of Geneva filed as a Democratic delegate from the First Congressional District.

Lincoln Ranching Firm Files To Incorporate

Articles of incorporation were filed with the Nebraska secretary of state Wednesday by Edward, Inc., of Lincoln, a ranching firm.

Incorporators were S. Edward Copple and Mary Helen Copple, both of Lincoln. The firm was authorized to issue $100,000 in capital stock.

Rail Hearing Held On Henry Agency

Gering (AP) — The Nebraska Railway Commission Wednesday held a public hearing in Gering on the application of the Burlington Railroad for permission to discontinue agency service at Henry. The railroad wants to establish custodian service. The commission took the matter under advisement after the hearing.

Hallam Farmer Says Cattle Killed By Dogs

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge.

Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and gripe the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONAID gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONAID moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONAID'S unequalled rebulking action helps retone flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONAID acts gently, on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon.

Meat Animal Inventories Rise 5%; Poultry Numbers Show 4% Decline

Combined inventories of meat animals in Nebraska the first of the year were 5% above the same figure a year earlier, but poultry inventories were down 4%.

The State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics reported Wednesday that an increase in cattle numbers more than offset a decrease in hog numbers.

Lower prices per head for all species placed the Jan. 1, 1960, value of all livestock and poultry at $773 million. This was 19%, or $185 million, less than the value of all livestock and poultry on hand Jan. 1, 1959.

Jan. Cattle Record

The number of cattle and calves totaled 5,330,000 on Jan. 1, 1960. This represents an increase of 7% from a year ago and a record high number for the first of the year. The previous high was 5,065,000 head on hand Jan. 1, 1955.

All classes of beef cattle were up from a year earlier. Milk cows showed a 2% decrease, the only class to register a decline. Beef cows were up 6% while beef heifers 1-2 years old were up 16%, the greatest percentage increase for any class.

Despite the 7% increase in inventory numbers, the total value of all cattle and calves on hand at $698 million was down 16% from the inventory value of $835 million a year earlier. Lower prices dropped the average value per head to $131 from $167 last year.

Nebraska hog numbers at 2,404,000 showed a 2% decrease from the 2,453,000 on hand a year earlier. Numbers turned downward the latter part of 1959 after two successive years of increasing numbers.

The decrease resulted from a smaller 1959 fall pig crop, relatively heavy marketing of 1959 spring pigs, and a cutback in sows kept for 1960 spring farrowings. Hogs were valued at $47,840,000, far below the $89,534,000 a year earlier, with the value per head for all hogs and pigs at $19.90 compared with $36.50 for 1959.

Sheep Value Down

The number of sheep and lambs on hand Jan. 1 was 805,000 head, only slightly less than the 807,000 a year earlier. A small increase in stock sheep was offset by a decrease in the number of sheep and lambs on feed. Sheep and lambs were valued at $12,182,000 this year compared to $15,509,000 a year ago.

Horse and mule numbers at 71,000 remain unchanged from a year earlier. Workstock was valued at $7,526,000, the same as a year ago.

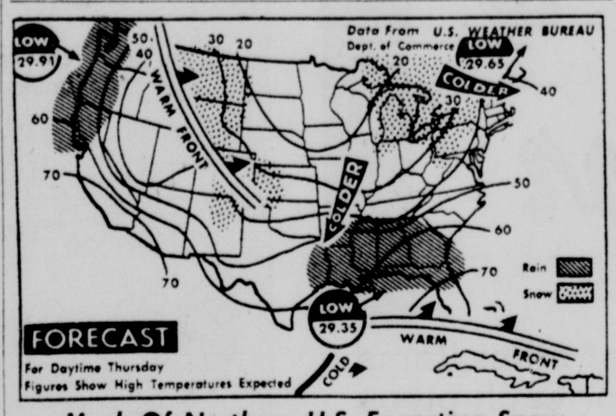
Chicken inventories at 11,052,000 birds were down 3% from last year and the smallest number for Jan. 1 on the record, which dates back to 1924. The value of chickens dropped to $7,405,000, the lowest value since 1941.

Rites Held For Mrs. E. O. Potratz

Kearney—Funeral services were held here Wednesday for Mrs. E. O. Potratz, 70, wife of the retired minister of the Zion Lutheran Church here.

Mrs. Potratz came to Kearney with her husband 30 years ago. He retired from the ministry last summer. The couple observed their 50th wedding anniversary during the summer.

Surviving in addition to her husband are a son, Paul W., U.S.A.F. in Honolulu; two daughters, Mrs. Viola Wice of Kearney and Mrs. Esther Schuetz of Redondo Beach, Calif.; two grandchildren and two sisters.



Much Of Northern U.S. Expecting Snow

Snow flurries are forecast Thursday over the northern Appalachians, central and eastern Lakes region, and northern and central Rockies. Rain is expected over the Gulf Coast states and along the Pacific Coast, from northern California northward. Colder temperatures are forecast for most of the nation between the Plains and Appalachians. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Middle Loup Project Now Is Debt Free

Arcadia (AP) — The Middle Loup Public Power and Irrigation District is now free of debt, Paul H. Dean, manager, reported. He said Middle Loup is now one of the very few debt free irrigation districts in the state.

The project was built in the late 1930s to irrigate about 45,000 acres of Middle Loup Valley land. It was financed by a Public Works Administration grant of 45% of the cost and a loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for $728,000 or the remaining 55%.

In January, 1949, the district purchased all of the outstandings bonds from the RFC and borrowed from the landowners in the district to pay for them. These loans by the land owners have been retired by annual payments over the last 11 years. Dean said that on Feb. 1 the district began mailing checks to make the final payments on outstanding notes.

Annual Ag Day Slated At Aurora

Aurora — Hamilton County's 13th annual Ag Day will be held Thursday at the new Junior High School.

The program will cover farm prices, cost of operation and market improvement. Tips on holding down cost of operation of the farm will be presented by University of Nebraska Extension agents and farm leaders.

Power Costs Will Go Down

. . . In 4 Towns

Syracuse — Lower electric power costs for 4 municipal utility systems will result from studies recently completed by Eastern Nebraska Public Power District, ENPPD officials disclosed.

Paul Dressen, Eastern's director of research and sales, said: "The diversity realized by serving the combined loads of the 4 towns has made possible the over-all lower service costs."

He said the first year's savings to the 4 towns will total nearly $3,000.

Power Districts Will Promote Cities As Industrial Locations

North Platte (AP) — A program to seek out new industry for cities served by the Nebraska Public Power System was announced Wednesday.

Directors of the Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District and the Loup River Public Power District said they plan to assemble facts on the industrial potential for each city, advertise in national publications and prepare kits of facts for prospective industries.

The two districts, which are joint owners of the NPPS will work with the Division of Nebraska Resources, and will encourage other state power agencies to join in the industrial effort.

The campaign will begin with cities of more than 4,000 population connected to the NPPS transmission system in the eastern two-thirds of the state. Later smaller cities in the service area will be contacted, the directors said.

Reach Tentative Agreement On Niobrara River Formula

Nebraska, Wyoming Pact

Nebraska and Wyoming have tentatively agreed on a complicated formula to divide water of the Niobrara River, according to Dan S. Jones Jr., Nebraska water resources director.

Jones said the next step is to discuss the terms with the people of western Nebraska who would be affected. The Niobrara enters the state in Sioux County west of Harrison. Wyoming officials will also have to consult its citizens who use Niobrara waters.

If the local people agree to the terms—a group of 5 western Nebraska consultants has been working with the department as representatives of the area—then formal contracts will be drawn up and signed by both states.

This pact must then be ratified by the legislatures of both states, by the U.S. Congress, and finally by the President of the United States, Jones said.

Camp Trip Winners Told

Two Nebraska 4-H members, Joyce Baumann of Hastings and Thomas Thurber of Lexington, have been selected to attend Camp Miniwanca at Stoney Lake, Mich., in August, State 4-H officials have announced.

A trip to the leadership camp is one of the highest honors in 4-H club work, according to W. M. Antes, state leader of 4-H and Young Men and Women at the University of Nebraska.

Miss Baumann is the 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Baumann and a veteran of 10 years in 4-H club work. She was named state community relations winner in 1958. A senior at Hastings High school, she is a leader in school affairs as well as 4-H work.

Thurber is the 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Thurber, and has been in 4-H club work 9 years. He is now a freshman at the College of Agriculture.

Mrs. Baughman's Husband Cleared By Lie Detector

Omaha (AP) — Police report no major developments Wednesday in the investigation of the death of Mrs. Lois Baughman, 34, whose frozen body was found in a North Omaha ravine Saturday.

Still unexplained is a skull fracture revealed in the autopsy. Police said there was a possibility the fracture was caused in moving the body out of the ravine.

Curtis Measure Would Hike Beet Acreage In U.S.

Omaha (AP) — Sen. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb) said he plans to offer an amendment to the Federal Sugar Act which would give Nebraskans and other western states more sugar beet acreage.

Curtis had said while in Nebraska last week-end he was considering offering this amendment soon, and a dispatch from his Washington office fixed the date for offering the amendment.

Curtis explained that the Senate will soon consider extension of the sugar legislation and his amendment provides that the Secretary of Agriculture can eliminate any nation's sugar quota if he "finds that the country furnishing this quota has nationalized the sugar industry, or any substantial segment of it, or that this country has expropriated property belonging to any citizen or corporation of the United States."

The Nebraska Senator said if this amendment is adopted Cuba's sugar quota would be suspended immediately. "Cuba already is guilty of expropriating American property," he said.

Elkhorn River Irrigation Plan Interest High

Neligh (UPI) — Neligh residents expressed considerable interest this week in the proposed Elkhorn River irrigation project.

Of the 60 persons who answered a questionnaire at a meeting here, only two said they were not in favor of the project. One answered he didn't know.

The meeting, sponsored by the Neligh Chamber of Commerce, was the third to be held in the 75-mile long Elkhorn River Valley district. One of the speakers, Paul Harley of the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation at Grand Island, described the Elkhorn irrigation district as a project affecting 6 counties which would supply irrigation water for an estimated 58,000 acres.

Beginning on the Elkhorn River above Ewing, the project would pour into a proposed Rosedale reservoir on Clearwater Creek south of Clearwater and then be fed into irrigation canals in Antelope, Pierce, Madison, Holt and Stanton Counties.

Mangiamelli, an Omaha contractor, said he has been touring the state to confer with Democratic leaders.

Federal Farm Support, Controls 'Vital'

By Glenn Kreuscher
Staff Farm Writer

Waverly — The often proposed idea that government support programs have been the cause of U.S. agricultural surpluses was branded as "not in accord with the facts" and "a dangerous thought" by Dr. Lloyd Fisher, rural economist of the University of Nebraska, who addressed the Farm and Home meeting here Wednesday afternoon.

The proposal of unlimited agricultural production without controls and encouraging farmers to produce all they want with prices seeking lower levels will produce only bankruptcy, according to Dr. Fisher.

He cautioned, "This type situation could give a re-occurrence of the 30's and this time it would make all former situations look like a tea-party."

Dr. Fisher estimated that it would be difficult to find an economist that would agree with Secretary of Agriculture, Ezra Benson, on his proposed plan to discard controls and reduce farm prices as a way of solving the farm problems.

'Consumer Benefits'

He said, "While farmers receive criticism for the money spent on research to increase yields and production it isn't the farmer who gets the big benefit but the consumer who through ample production has had favorable food prices."

"But who gets blamed for all the agricultural appropriations?," he asked.

It's the farmer who carries the whole blame for money spent and the consumer never stops to realize his benefits from the program, Dr. Fisher told farmers.

A situation of continued higher yields and efficiency on the farmer's part has backfired, and instead of being a credit has worked a hardship on farm income, according to Dr. Fisher.

"We have to control production, I am convinced of this," emphasized Dr. Fisher.

He suggets an impressive soil bank as an aid to the farm problem.

Dr. Fisher predicted that if the administration would allot $3 billion or half of the agriculture appropriation to a soil bank program they could pay $30 per acre for land and retire 100 million acres, or almost 4 times the present amount.

This type program he could see as offering hope to the farmer, without costing as much as present programs wihch have proved ineffective to handling surplus production.

Attacks Eating Theory

Those that expect to eat their way out of the agriculture situation are given very little hope by Dr. Fisher as he feels the U.S. would reach a saturation point on food long before catching up with mounting supplies.

Even with population increasing which offers some encouragement he says, "We still can't eat our way out in the forseeable future."

Exports offer little toward solving the surplus with restrictions and tariffs limiting the amount that can leave the country, explained Dr. Fisher.

He called Public Law 480 which trades U.S. surplus for foreign currency a good law, but one that should be operated as "foreign aid."

Hemingford, Crawford Okay K-N Franchise

Hemingford (AP) — Two more northwest Nebraska towns have approved 25 year natural gas franchises requested by the Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co. The are Hemingford and Crawford.

The city councils of both cities have approved the franchises. Chadron previously had approved a Kansas-Nebraska franchise. The firm has announced plans to serve several cities in northwest Nebraska within 3 years.

Mitchell Location Considered For General Hospital

Scottsbluff (AP) — The board of directors of the West Nebraska General Hospital in Scottsbluff agreed Wednesday to consider a proposal to build a new hospital in Mitchell.

Nebraska News

Wesley Shewell of Mitchell offered a 15 acre tract north of Mitchell as a hospital site. The hospital has been considering building a new plant and told a delegation of Mitchell residents a decision would be made on moving to Mitchell within 30 days.

By Arthur Edson

Washington (AP) — This capital is full of lobbyists. On almost every issue, great or sometimes surprisingly small, they show up to plead for or against, expertly, smoothly, knowledgeably.

But where is the lobbyist to maintain that the mountain beaver has a right to go about his damming business? Or that recreation areas should be carefully preserved for public enjoyment? Or that lakes should be kept clear and unspoiled?

"There are practically none," the mayor of Pinedale, Wyo., Jim Harrower, said sadly. "There just isn't enough big money involved."

Pinedale has a recorded population of 647, but like mayors everywhere, Harrower argues loyally that it has grown considerably since the last census. "I'd say we have around a thousand there now," he said.

Paradise Lost

But of this there seems little doubt: around Pinedale is some of this nation's most beautiful country.

Here is the Jim Bridger wilderness area, named after one of the most famous of the mountain men. Here even today the nearest town is 70 miles away. Here one can go by horse up into the mountains and see elk, moose, deer, antelope, coyote, mountain lion, porcupine, beaver.

Because he worked for the Forest Service for 17 years, he dropped by to see some of his old buddies stationed here.

"Why," he said in awe, "there are more damn people in that Agriculture Department building than in the whole state of Wyoming."

Togetherness Trend

Even the mountain and desert country is filling up. "Denver, Salt Lake, Las Vegas, Reno," Harrower called the roll. "People, people, people."

Mike Frome, a travel writer who spent his vacation in the Jim Bridger wilderness last year, was at the table. He said it's strange how many tourists, hell bent for Yellowstone, go right through Pinedale and never bother to turn off and see the dazzling beauty.

The Beaver's friend smiled contentedly.

"And we don't do anything to stop them either," the mayor said.

Space Living Solution To Packed Earth

. . . Scientist Opines

Washington (UPI) — A scientist said Wednesday that colonization of space may solve future population pressures of an earth which nuclear weapons have made "too small a place for mankind."

This suggestion was made by Dr. Arthur R. Kantrowitz, vice president of Avco Corp., as one of many long-range justifications for investing in space exploration.

Kantrowitz said more immediate benefits—to be gained from weather' communications, scientific, and surveillance satellites—promise to pay for the space investment "many times over."

Kantrowitz spoke at a missile-space conference sponsored here by the National Rocket Club. He and a number of other speakers accused the Eisenhower administration of failure to provide necessary leadership to overcome Russia's space exploration lead.

The official U.S. view, Kantrowitz said, is "no, we are not competing with anybody." He charged the administration with "choosing comfort over adventure."

"Whether we like it or not," he said, "progress in space technology is certain to be one of the great tests which will decide between competing forms of social organization."

Reed Pleads Innocent To Breakin Count

Fremont (AP) — Robert Lee Reed, 29, of Fremont pleaded innocent on arraignment on charges of breaking and entering Wednesday in connection with a Jan. 30 breakin at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Club in Fremont.

He was released on $3,000 bond. Reed is also out on bond in connection with an Oct. 11 burglary at the Kavich furniture store which netted $38,000.

Reed was charged with breaking and entering, possession of burglary tools and receiving stolen property after $34,000 was found in a safe deposit box he owned.

Also captured in the VFW breakin was Albert (Pinky) Callaway of Fremont. Police were waiting inside the club when the two attempted to enter after closing hours.

Punches Swapped In Turkish Parliament

An opposition member, Ismail Inan, suffered an injured eye and other deputies were cut about the face.

The opposition had accused the former exploitation minister, Amet Agaoglu, of providing illegal benefits for his brother-in-law, German-born Werner Taschenbrecker.

Set Study On Wheat Use For Paper

The Nebraska Agricultural Products Research Fund Committee voted Wednesday to secure "project proposals" from private laboratories for research in the utilization of wheat to make paper.

Pearle F. Finigan, chairman of the committee and state director of agriculture, said a process has already been discovered by Dr. Carl B. Linn which utilizes corn to make paper.

Finigan said the Midwest Research Institute of Kansas City, Mo., will be asked by a representative next week to make a proposal on how such research should be carried out, and what it would cost.

The committee administers a research fund of nearly $350,000 a year from a one-tenth mill tax levy, plus funds from other sources. It is seeking other uses for agricultural products, mainly surplus grains. A research project in the raising of high amylose starch corn has already been started.

The committee also approved plans to cooperate with the Great Plains Wheat Market Development Assn., Finigan said. The wheat growers will be contacted at their meeting Thursday in Ogallala.

Members attending the meeting were Vince Rossiter of Hartington, Thone Johnson of Fremont, Bob Rauner of Gurley and W. V. Lambert, Dean of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

Harbor Hijackers Net Heavy Hauls

"They have stolen more than 150,000 tons of scrap in recent months," he said.

Equipped with fast motor launches, they lie in wait in canals, rivers and deserted coves, closely following newspaper reports of freighter arrivals.

A string of barges loaded with scrap from a freighter starts across the 20-mile wide bay for the steel mill wharves. A pirate cruiser slips up, cuts the last barge adrift. Then, as if they are innocent by-standers, the pirates notify the tug skipper.

Costello Gets New Setback In Appeal Court

New York (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals Wednesday upheld a lower court order depriving racketeer Frank Costello of his American citizenship—the citizenship he once said he "cherished."

The ailing Costello has more than a year to serve in Atlanta Federal Penitentiary on a 5-year sentence for evading $28,000 in income taxes.

Rocket Ship Makes First Power Dive

Edwards Air Base, Calif. (AP) — The rocket ship X15 made its first steep power dive Wednesday, a nearly vertical descent that subjected test pilot Scott Crossfield to pull-out pressure more than 6 times the force of gravity.

It was the most drastic test to date in a series preceding the sleek black craft's assault on space. It is expected ultimately to soar 100 miles high at speeds up to 4,000 mph.

The X15, after being dropped from a bomber, flew only to 50,000 feet, then dove almost straight down in a test of its various systems under high "G" forces.

The rocket ship was going twice the speed of sound—about 1,400 miles an hour—at the time of abrupt pull-up, which gave Crossfield the sensation of weighing 6 times his normal 160 pounds.

He Begs For The Poor

Monza, Italy (AP) — Albert Najar, a 50-year-old philosopher was picked up by police for begging on the streets. But after they checked up on his story, they not only let him go but took him back by car to his luxury apartment in a fashionable Milan residential section. Najar told them "I do not beg for myself but for charity, to give the money to those poorer than I am." Police found he was a well-loved figure among Milan's poor, famous for gifts of cash.

Stock Decline Climaxed As Prices Go Up

New York (AP) — The long 1960 stock market decline reached a climax Wednesday as prices were battered down brutally, then rebounded with enthusiasm.

Volume soared to 4,210,000 shares from 3,270,000 Tuesday and was the largest since May 7, 1959, when 4,530,000 shares were traded.

Final prices showed that key stocks had transformed early losses ranging from fractions to 2 points or so into gains in the same range. Speculative issues did better.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .80 to 231.70 with the industrials up .90, the rails up 1.10 and the utilities up .30.

Of 1,224 issues traded, 606 advanced and 402 declined. New lows for 1959-'60 totaled 120. There were two new highs.

Boston DJ Felt Guilty Over Payola, Quit Job

Washington (AP)—House investigators Wednesday unfolded the payola confessions of a disenchanted disc jockey who said he quit his job in shame after collecting $9,955 in secret payoffs.

"I was ashamed of myself," ex-Boston record player Norman Prescott said.

"I was ashamed of the industry and I walked away from it for that reason."

Prescott's testimony, complete with confessions that he accepted payola from Boston record distributors for 3 years, was given Feb. 8 behind closed doors to the House legislative oversight subcommittee.

Transcripts were made public Wednesday as the committee met in closed session, taking testimony from Harry Carter, president of a Boston record distributing company called Music Suppliers Inc., and Samuel H. Clark, president of Am-Par records of New York.

They pleaded that public questioning would damage their health. Transcripts of their testimony are to be made public later.

Payola, Prescott said, has come to dominate both the record industry and the broadcasting of records on disc jockey shows—"a deplorable situation."

Book Work Shifts Interstate Funds

The Nebraska Department of Roads has switched some funds on the Interstate Highway work, but it's only a bookkeeping matter, John Hossack, state engineer, reported Wednesday.

Involved was $3,100,000 originally programmed for right-of-way and preliminary engineering on the Lincoln-Grand Island segment.

The department may switch up to two million dollars of it for the same use on the Grand Island-Lexington segment, Hossack said, keeping the rest on the Lincoln-Milford segment and the Doniphan interchange south of Grand Island.

Actually, the state doesn't have the money anyway and the switch is in the books only and "doesn't mean a thing" in terms of the final program. Funds are not considered "obligated" or "spent" until a "project agreement" is reached.

There is one automobile for every 2.3 persons in both California and Nevada, highest in the nation.

BROOKS STILL HEDGING ON '60 POLITICAL PLANS

By Don Walton

Wednesday's vain attempt went like this:

Are you going to run for the U.S. Senate?

Have you decided what you are going to do?

"Pretty definitely."

When will you announce?

Before March

"It won't be after March 1." (That date, just 13 days away, is the deadline for a candidate to announce his plans if he is going to file for a different office than the one he now holds.)

Will it be about March 1?

"It will be reasonably close to that date."

Might you announce your decision at the Feb. 29 bean feed being sponsored by Lancaster County Democrats just one day before the March 1 deadline?

I Like Beans

"If I go to the bean feed, I'll be there because I like beans."

Brooks is not likely to seek a second term as governor.

He is expected to file as a candidate for the Senate seat now held by Republican Sen. Carl Curtis.

How about it, Governor?

'TOO MANY LOOSE ENDS' SALT-WAHOO DRAWBACK

. . . According To Grange Master

The drive to create a Salt-Wahoo Watershed District has "too many loose ends" to expect support from the farmer, George A. Spidel, master of the Nebraska Grange, told an Extension Club meeting at Waverly Wednesday.

Before farmers agree to support the project, "they should examine carefully whether there is within the watershed plan any reasonable assurance that flood control measures will be planned to solve their particular problems," Spidel said.

Likewise, he noted, "the farmer will not be for the watershed if the Sanitary District is dissolved and its obligations thrown upon the watershed."

On May Ballot

Spidel raised questions as to whether populous Lincoln would control operations of the district, and if the district would function chiefly for the benefit of Lincoln.

"There can be no doubt that the watershed project can accomplish much good in the way of flood control and soil and water conservation," Spidel said.

"But, the interests of the residents of Lincoln and the farmers are not necessarily identical."

More Taxes

In return, he noted, the farmer is offered "certain soil and water conservation benefits."

However, Spidel said, "it has not been made clear in what way these will be better than the present soil conservation services."

If the Sanitary District is not dissolved, he said, the watershed would add authority to levy an additional three-fourths mill tax.

Added Duties?

If it is dissolved and its duties are transferred to the watershed, Spidel pointed out, Salt-Wahoo responsibilities will then include "storm sewers and even bridges within the City of Lincoln."

The Sanitary District presently holds the power to levy a one-mill tax; if it were dissolved, that tax would be replaced by Salt-Wahoo authority to levy up to three-fourths of a mill.

(Storm sewers are no longer a function of the Sanitary District which now confines its operations to flood control.)

Salt-Wahoo officials made no reply when asked for comment Wednesday night.

Geneva (UPI)—The Soviet Union was warned Wednesday that the U.S. Senate would not ratify a treaty banning all nuclear tests if it failed to provide for an "enormous" number of inspections.

James J. Wadsworth, the U.S. delegate to the 3-power nuclear talks, issued the warning after Russian delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin again refused to specify the number of such inspections in the Soviet proposal.

Tsarapkin told the conference that he would not give the number until the other represented nations agreed to his plan to ban all tests. The United States has suggested that all tests except small underground blasts be banned.

Minimum Minded

Russia has said it wants only a "very few" inspections to cover the whole range of the hard-to-identify underground shots.
